TOKIO SHAKEN BY SEVERE TREMOR, BRIDGES DAMAGED

Populace, Badly Frightened, Flee Into Streets; Earthquake in Cuba Destroys Six Houses.

TOKIO, Aug. 3.—An unusually severe earthquake shook the city at 6:25 p. m. The populace was badly frightened and every one indoors ran into the streets.

The quake seemed to have affected the Tokyo district principally. Several bridges were damaged and there were numerous landslides. Communications also were interrupted.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Two earthquakes, probably 3000 miles away, were recorded on the seismograph at Fordham University last night and today. The first was recorded at 11:58, Eastern daylight time, last night, and continued until 12:17 a. m. The second started at 6:55 a. m. and lasted until 7:30 o'clock.

HAVANA, Aug. 3.—An earthquake destroyed six houses and damaged nine others near Manzanillo, Oriente Province, yesterday. No lives were lost and no one was injured. The tremor was of short duration.

FINED FOR SPEED 40 YEARS AGO; DROVE HORSE TOO FAST

Man, 77, Admits Old Offense in Applying for Citizenship at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—William Apel, 77 years old, was admitted to citizenship here yesterday. Asked by Justice Bailey of the District of Columbia Supreme Court if he had ever been arrested, Apel replied:

"Yes, sir, 40 years ago I was taken into custody, tried and fined $5 for speeding."

Judge Bailey manifested surprise. "I drove a horse hitched to a bread wagon too fast and police got me," Apel explained.

EDENBORN HEIRS BEGIN SUIT TO GET LAND IN ST. LOUIS

Four Nephews and Nieces of Millionaire Start Action Against Mrs. Meier, Gumbo, Mo., Claimant.

SEEK TO ENJOIN HER SUIT FOR SHARE

Action Discloses That Mrs. Edenborn Conveyed $60,000 of Property Here to Plaintiffs July 31.

Litigation over the $76,000,000 estate of William Edenborn, capitalist and railroad owner and former St. Louisan, who died May 14 at the age of 78 at his home in Shreveport, La., reached the Federal court here today when his four nephews and nieces began suit to gain title to St. Louis real estate which he owned.

The suit is directed against Mrs. Sophie L. Meier, former wife of Gumbo, St. Louis County, who, last week, sued in Circuit Court to establish her claim to a daughter's share of Edenborn's millions, naming as chief defendant, Mrs. Sarah Drain Edenborn, his widow. Mrs. Meier specifically asked that the court recognize her right "as the lawful child" of Edenborn to share with his widow, five parcels of real estate on Twenty-second, Singleton and Patton streets—valued at approximately $60,000.

Today's suit, by the nephews and nieces, asks that title to this property be awarded to them, and that Mrs. Meier be enjoined from prosecuting her action in Circuit Court against the Federal Court, passing on their suit. They ask further that Mrs. Meier be subpoenaed to appear in Federal Court to answer their petition.

The plaintiffs are August Mann of Donora, Pa., Lena M. Watson of Weston, Ill., Otto Mann and Emma M. Logan of Shreveport, whose mother, Mrs. Lena Mann, was a sister of Edenborn. As such, they claim to be the "sole surviving and legal heirs" of Edenborn, excepting his widow.

On July 31 last, according to their petition, Mrs. Edenborn conveyed her right and title to the St. Louis real estate to them. This apparently was not known to Mrs. Meier, in her suit she did not name the nephews and nieces, but only the widow, Public Administrator Terry of St. Louis County and the Liberty Central Trust Co. of St. Louis.

While the amount at issue in both suits here is only $60,000, a decision one way or the other probably would determine the status of Mrs. Meier's claim to a daughter's share of the $76,000,000. Edenborn had no surviving children by his marriage to Mrs. Sarah Drain Edenborn, but Mrs. Meier claims to be a child by a prior marriage.

The nephews and nieces deny this claim, by their assertion that they are the only heirs.

Mrs. Edenborn's Attorney Here, R. E. Milling of New Orleans, counsel for Mrs. Edenborn, was one of the attorneys who filed the papers in the suit today. He also is counsel for the Louisiana Railway & Navigation Co., a $25,000,000 property, whose president, Edenborn, was succeeded at his death by his widow, Mrs. Edenborn, at Shreveport, also succeeded to his estate.

Sheriff T. R. Hughes of Caddo Parish has declined to serve a citation upon Mrs. Edenborn, in connection with Mrs. Meier's suit. He is returning the citation to Mrs. Meier's attorneys, the St. Louis firm of Laughlin, Frumberg, Blodgett & Russell, and John T. Fitzsimmons, with a letter disclaiming legal authority to act.

CHICAGO, August 3.—Joseph Saldo, 28 years old, nephew of Joseph Salvo, bootlegger-jeweler, who was murdered with a woman companion in front of the Derby Inn a month and a half ago, was riddled by bullets from a passing automobile today as he stood in front of his cigar store. He died two hours later. Police laid the shooting to a continuance of liquor warfare.

JACOB KATZ WON'T TELL WHAT HE DID WITH $8000 FUND

Chicago Slot Machine Man Doesn't Want to See Reporters About St. Louis Injunction Case.

BROTHER SOL SHOWS NOTE FROM NEW YORK

But Principal, or His Double, Remains in Illinois—Two Jake Katzes in Business, They Say.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Jacob Katz, the big punchboard and slot machine man, who put up $10,000 in escrow just to show Attorney Edgar V. Maher of St. Louis that he meant business after Maher had been hired at a fee of $2000 to get an injunction from Circuit Judge Itner under which the slot machine pool, headed by Katz, was able to operate there last April, does not want to see reporters.

He has steadfastly and adroitly avoided men sent by the Post-Dispatch to ask him why it was necessary to have a fund of $10,000 in the slot machine deal and what became of the $8000 left after Maher had collected his fee of $2000. Katz is in seclusion. Katz does not desire to talk. Katz will not see reporters.

This morning his brother, Sol, who in an exclusive interview with the Post-Dispatch several weeks ago told a frank and naïve story of why his brother Jake entered into the deal with Maher, gave out a letter purporting to be from Jake and written at the Hotel McAlpin in New York City.

Says He Got $8000 Back. In his letter, which Sol vows came directly from Jake in New York, the following passages are enlightening:

"I was interested to learn that reporters from St. Louis want to see me. I do not want to talk to them and so will not return from the East for three or four weeks. I notice that the St. Louis papers printed a picture of the check for $8000 paid to me by Alex Lewis. It bears my endorsement. This should be sufficient evidence that I got the $8000 back. I hope you will discourage these reporters and prevent them from seeing me when I return."

Katz, it will be remembered, signed a contract with Maher, who was not an attorney, to record in the case under which Maher would collect $2000 if Judge Itner granted the injunction against police interference before April 10. To bind the bargain Katz left $10,000 in cash with Alex Lewis, an accounts officer of the Liberty Central Trust Co.

What Became of the $8000? Judge Itner did grant the injunction before April 10—he granted it on March 31—and the following day Katz and Maher called at the bank. Lewis paid Maher $2000, and in Maher's presence, as previously agreed, gave Katz a cashier's check for the $8000, which Katz cashed at the Franklin Bank.

But what became of the $8000 after that is a mystery, which both Katz and Maher decline to solve. Maher has refused to discuss why he was interested in the slot machine case and what he did to earn his fee of $2000 when he never appeared in court and was not publicly connected with the case at all.

While the reporters who have been attempting to see Jake Katz here do not question that the letter Sol produced this morning correctly states the position of his brother regarding the interview, they doubt very much that Jake Katz is in the city. As further evidence tending to show that Jake Katz, the secretary, and Jake Katz, the president, are one, there is Jake's automobile. This is a green Cadillac sedan, with the initials "J. K." in a neat diamond shield on the tonneau door. Whenever "Jacob R. Katz" is in, his car stands out in front. Brother

62,000 BALLOTS ESTIMATED TO HAVE BEEN CAST IN PRIMARY HERE AT 2 P. M.

Doing Their Bit at the Polls

These two snapshots, taken at Delmar and Hamilton avenues, are typical of scenes at many voting places in St. Louis today, where women party workers distributed cards, urging the election of favored candidates.

ABOUT FOURTH OF REGISTRATION SO FAR VOTED

Rush in Final Hours Expected to Bring Out More Than 115,000 of Those Qualified.

POLLS WILL REMAIN OPEN UNTIL 7 P. M.

Holiday for City Hall Offices, Local and State Courts, Banks and Stock Exchange Also Closed.

An estimated vote of 62,000 was cast in the 624 voting precincts of St. Louis in the first eight hours of the senatorial, congressional, state and local primary, which began at 6 a. m. today and ends at 7 p. m.

Some precincts of the West End and the South Side reported, at 2 p. m., a vote exceeding one-fourth of their registration. In the river wards the showing was not so good. The showing, if it indicated a proportion to continue through the day, would make a light vote, not more than 115,000 out of the registration of 269,888. But late afternoon voting is more prevalent now than it was in the years before women had the franchise and it is expected that the last three hours of the voting day will be the most active.

The day is a holiday for the City Hall offices and the local and State courts. Banks were also closed, as was the Stock Exchange. Most of the city employes were expected to put in the day, or a large part of it, in precinct canvassing or polling place work.

Ideal Election Weather. The weather here was favorable to getting out the vote. Reports from different parts of Missouri told of ideal election day weather and of a good-sized early vote. St. Joseph reported that the women were going to the polls in unusually large numbers.

The Election Board received no report of disorder or attempted fraud in the first half of the day. A complaint, showing a quarrel within the Republican ranks, was presented by Justice Harry C. Meyers, Republican committeeman for the Nineteenth Ward, who was accompanied to the Election Board office by Nat Goldstein, former committeeman.

Meyers and Goldstein, who had credentials as challengers for their precinct workers in the Nineteenth, complained that duplicate credentials had been issued by Chairman L. J. Becker of the City Committee, to the Daily League, a Negro organization, and that the challengers of that organization were also in the polling places. The Election Board refused to interfere, holding that the chairman had power to give out the credentials as he chose. Goldstein made some show of anger at the board's refusal to act.

Goldstein is supporting Mayor Miller's candidate for Collector, Neumann, but is supporting Senator Williams.

An Eighth Ward controversy was brought in by "Tub" Becker, Republican committeeman, who had posted Fred Mueller as a watcher in one of the precincts. Mueller is a candidate for constable in the second justice district and on that account objection was made to his presence. The board advised Becker to act.

Wilbert McFann, Negro deputy constable, was arrested at noon at Jefferson avenue and Morgan street, when policemen charged that he was standing too near to a polling place at 618 North Jefferson, and was electioneering.

Figures were not available on the division of the early city voting as between the two parties, but it appeared that the chief interest was being shown by Republican voters. In a number of wards lively contests for the Republican City Committee were being waged, and opponents of Mayor Miller, helped to increase the early poll.

Democratic Vote Light. Democratic workers in some parts of the city complained that they were having difficulty in getting out their normal vote. At two adjoining precincts in the Twenty-second Ward, in the northwest part of the city, it was reported that

GENERAL MOTORS STOCK UP $23 ON BANKER'S STORY

Bedlam of Frantic Brokers After Publication of Interview Credited to J. P. Morgan's Partner.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The bull movement in the stock market took another sensational turn just before the close today when General Motors and United States Steel common broke through to new high records for all time at 123 1/2 and 152, respectively, closing within half a point of the top prices. This represented an extreme gain of 12 1/2 points for the premier motor stock and an overnight jump of five points in steel. General Motors at a peak price was 23 points up from yesterday's opening.

American Brake Shoe and Foundry extended its early gain to 12 points. Dupont to 9 1/2, United States Cast Iron Pipe to 8 1/2 and Allied Chemical, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and several others sold five or more points above yesterday's final quotations. Total sales of approximately 2,800,000 shares were the largest since the March break, when the $3,000,000 mark was crossed on three occasions.

The frantic scramble to buy General Motors developed yesterday upon the publication of the Cochran statement that the stock should sell 100 points higher. It opened today four points higher than yesterday's close.

Meanwhile, Cochran's speeding toward Europe on the Olympic was bombarded with radio messages asking for an explanation of his statement. No replies had been received by early afternoon and the Morgan offices remained silent regarding the interview.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Thomas Cochran, partner of J. P. Morgan & Co., called for Europe on the Olympic at midnight Saturday and left behind him a verbal bomb which yesterday turned Wall Street upon its head and added almost $70,000,000 to the stock market valuation of shares of the General Motors Corporation.

Cochran, a financier previously noted for his reticence and his ability to avoid the limelight of newspaper discussion, was credited with stating for publication that he considered General Motors stock cheap at the prices prevailing last Saturday morning and that it "should and will sell at least 100 points higher."

CATERPILLAR PEST MAKES LONDONERS CARRY SUNSHADES

Hyde Park Strollers Showered With Worms Every Time There Is a Breeze.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Hordes of caterpillars have taken possession of Hyde Park in what an official describes as "the worst plague of its kind for years."

Whenever there is a breeze, great showers of caterpillars drop from the park trees. Men are forced to turn up their coat collars, while women find sunshades the only effective way of keeping off the pests. An army of caretakers, armed with pails of paraffin and brushes, have been battling with the pest.

DRY EVANGELIST AND WOMAN SLAIN DURING A REVIVAL

The Rev. Mr. Moss and Mrs. Jerome Robinson Killed During Services Near Morgantown, Ky.

MORGANTOWN, Ky., Aug. 3.—The Rev. Mr. Moss, an evangelist, and Mrs. Jerome Robinson of Butler County were shot to death last night in church near here, while the opening hymn of revival services was being sung. The preacher toppled from the pulpit, dead, and Mrs. Robinson, who was sitting in the front row of the choir, died an hour later.

The shots, fired through an open window, narrowly missed several other persons. Clifford Wilson was arrested and held for investigation, after a 14-year-old girl told officers she saw him fire the shots. County officers today were following other trails from the church with bloodhounds.

FINDS EVIDENCE MISSING IN HALL MURDER INQUIRY

Special Prosecutor Named by Jersey Governor Discovers Affidavits of Witnesses Have Disappeared.

PISTOL SEIZED BY STATE ALSO GONE

Says, However, There Are Sufficient Facts to Cause Arrest and Indictment of Three Persons.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—State Senator Arthur J. Simpson of Jersey City, suggested by Governor Moore as a special prosecutor to investigate not only the Hall-Mills murder, but to inquire into charges and rumors of bribery and corruption that have been current ever since the first investigation four years ago, yesterday visited Prosecutor Bergen of Somerset County.

After half an hour of conference with Bergen, Senator Simpson returned to the big farm of Mrs. Jane Gibson, whose story is particularly damaging to Mrs. Hall, and cross-examined here 15 or 20 minutes on various details of her story.

"She impresses me as a woman without enough imagination to make up a story," he said when he left her tumble-down house. "She tells in a homely, quiet way, a very probable story, to my mind. I asked her if she had any doubt about any part of her story, and she said she hadn't. She gave an explanation for every movement she told about making that night, and her story sounded very probable."

Important Evidence Missing. Equally if not more significant was Simpson's comment following his conference with Prosecutor Bergen.

"I have had a talk with Prosecutor Bergen," he said, "and have gone over the matter and obtained a bird's-eye view of the situation. I was horrified to learn that much important evidence is missing, including original statements by witnesses who were questioned four years ago, and a pistol I am told was returned to the man from whom it was taken, although I understand the firing pin had been filed down in such a manner as to make it very easy to identify."

The pistol to which Simpson referred was the one owned by Willie Stevens, who was arrested by Mrs. Hall. The pistol, along with the missing evidence, originally was in the hands of Prosecutor Beekman of Somerset County, now dead. According to Simpson's information, the pistol was returned to Willie Stevens and the whereabouts of the missing affidavits remain a mystery.

Despite the missing evidence, Simpson declared that he thought the prosecutor "had enough positive evidence for an ordinary grand jury to find indictments for murder against two men and a woman."

Third Man May Be Involved. Subsequently, Simpson added there was a third man who might be involved but whose case was doubtful.

"There have been positive identifications of certain people," he said. "Unusual circumstances under which people under suspicion have changed their stories regarding their whereabouts and their movements have been found. The evidence is positive enough, I think, for any grand jury I ever have had any experience with to return indictments against at least three persons."

"One man has been positively identified as having been seen near the scene of the crime Sept. 14, 1922."

Although he seemed impressed by the evidence as outlined to him by the prosecutor, and confident of its weight before a grand jury, Simpson also indicated plainly he was as interested in running down and exposing the corruption he believes was practiced in the case as in solving the murder of the Rev. Mr. Hall and his pretty choir singer.

It is known that Prosecutor Bergen has confided to associates that he has found evidence of widespread corruption in his investigation of the four-year-old crime, and Senator Simpson indicated he regards the task of uncovering all corruption one of paramount importance in his investigation.

DEPUTY MARSHAL TELLS OF ACTIVITY FOR MCKINLEY

the Crowe-Barrett leaders had promised to support him for Mayor if he helped them in the recent primary.

"I told them I did not think the people of Chicago were interested in political alliances, but that I was very much interested in the candidacy of Col. Smith."

Thompson said the Lakes-to-Gulf waterway was supported by the Crowe-Barrett group and that also the wet and dry issue for Cook County came up and it was decided to declare against prohibition for the county.

"With these understandings our minds met," Thompson said. "This had much to do with assisting in the nomination of Col. Frank L. Smith."

Always Needed Money.

Asked about campaign finances, Thompson said: "This campaign was no different from any other; we were short of money and always needed a little more. I don't know how the money was raised except that I encouraged my friends to contribute."

"I asked Allen F. Moore, Col. Smith's campaign manager, if there was any way to secure the money," Thompson said. "He said he would try to raise some. In a couple of days he called me. I went to see him and he gave me $25,000. Beyond that I had nothing to do with the financing except to pay some bills myself."

"Don't you know Senator McKimley actually contributed to the Crowe-Barrett faction?" Reed asked. "No, I do not," was the reply. "I understood he was to have done so."

Thompson said he personally spent $2000 or $3000 in bills for the Crowe-Barrett organization during the campaign. The former Mayor testified that he knew of no deals for political support in the April primary. Asked as to the custom in Chicago with respect to hiring workers on election days, Thompson said this was done in Cook County. In addition to having paid workers on election and primary days, men are paid to make a canvass to get the voters to register.

Money Raised by Dances.

"What do you know about the raising of funds by the ward organization?" Reed asked. "I know that some of the organizations raise money by dances and parties," was the answer. "Some have 'bunco' parties, which seem to interest the women."

"What is a 'bunco' party?" "I don't know exactly. I have addressed such parties where there were a thousand or more ladies. We are permitted to talk to them while they are supposed to be playing cards. I suppose that's where the 'bunco' comes in."

"Do you know anything about the sources from which the Smith money was received?" "I do not," "Or of the McKimley money?"

"Your full information about finances was that you got $25,000 from Moore, received one subscription of $1000 and spent some money yourself in playing incidental bills as you went about town?" "Yes, sir."

Stating that he had just come from the Pacific Coast, Thompson said there were "big head lines out there of a slush fund," and that the unknown thought all the money was spent in the Senate campaign.

"The people do not realize that there were some 30 county candidates and that much of the money went to their campaign," Thompson said. "I wish there was some way that could be made clear."

Lundin Said His Farmer.

Fred Lundin, reputed Lieutenant of Gov. Small's State organization testified at this afternoon's session that he had no particular business.

"I attend to my farm and think," Lundin said.

"That last is a very hard job," said Reed.

"Whom did you support in the last primary?" the chairman asked.

"I did not support either candidate in the senatorial," Lundin said.

"I did not support Senator McKimley because he voted for war and for the Cossack espionage law."

"Was against Frank L. Smith because in 1920 he refused to support our platform which declared we stood for no entangling alliances."

Lundin testified that generally speaking leaders of political groups

PRESIDENT CITES U. S. PROSPERITY AS RECORD

Reviews Past Three Years of Administration — Going to Plymouth, Vt.

By the Associated Press.

PAUL SMITHS, N. Y., Aug. 3.—

Reviewing the accomplishments of his administration, President Coolidge today, on the fourth anniversary of his assuming the presidency, let it be known that he considered the past three years to be the most prosperous of any similar period in the history of the country.

While recognizing that material prosperity is not the only object to be sought, Mr. Coolidge felt a sound business condition was fundamental to progress in all other directions.

Much more remains to be done, it was added, than has been done in the field of legislation and every effort will be required to maintain the present condition.

An important factor in the present prosperity, the President believes, is the caution and wisdom with which business men have conducted their affairs, refraining from overextension and also from borrowing in financing their enterprises.

President Coolidge plans to go to Plymouth, Vt., tomorrow for a visit of several days to his boyhood home.

His program today includes visits from Harvey S. Firestone Jr., rubber manufacturer, and Brigadier-General Frank Parker, in command of Madison Barracks, a regular army post in northern New York, and delivery of the first speech of his vacation, a radio address in connection with the fiftieth anniversary celebration of Colorado's attainment of statehood.

Elaborate preparations were made for the President's speech to Denver. A microphone set was placed in his private study at White Pine Camp and his words over a long-distance telephone line to the Colorado capital, to be amplified for the benefit of the crowd and also broadcast by radio.

Three wires and nearly 200 experts in long-distance communication were required to facilitate transmission. One of the wires was routed through Kansas City, while another ran through Chicago, the duplicate having been provided so as to forestall interference from wireless and other radio waves.

In order to guard against any possible delay, a third wire, touching New Orleans, was also in readiness in the event either of the other two could not be used.

Vote of 62,000 First Eight Hours of Primary Here

the first 88 votes received only 5 were Democratic.

The Democrats are without funds for precinct workers. There was no general distribution of funds for Republican precinct workers but it has been understood that some candidates have contributed to such funds in some wards and districts.

The estimate of the volume of voting was made from figures obtained by telephone from one selected precinct in each ward. Taking these precincts as typical, the voting was more lively in the wards where there were Republican committee centers.

Interest in the nomination for United States Senator was shown chiefly by the Republicans. Among the Democrats there was no doubt that Harry B. Hawes would have a heavy lead in the city, for both long and short term nominations, over his dry opponents, Cockrell and Meredith.

The Republican senatorial situation here appeared uncertain in the early morning. It was questionable how large a vote Blodgett Priest would get, on his wet platform, in view of the Williams charge of collusion between Priest's candidacy and the dry candidacy of D. M. McKeown.

It was questionable how much support Senator Williams has gained by his speeches through the city last week. And it was highly questionable whether Mayor Miller and the City Hall machine would be able to make any impressive showing for Proctor.

The question of most interest is how near Priest can come to repeating the performance of William Sacks, who in 1922, on a wet platform, got 43,778 votes in the Republican city primary, for the senatorial nomination, against 26,811 for five other candidates.

Former Contest Closed.

FIVE MEN AND WOMAN HELD IN $8100 HOLDUP

Four St. Louisans in Group Charged With Robbery of Street Car Employes
in East St. Louis.

CRIME PLOTTED IN ROOMING HOUSE

Confession by Youth, 18, Arrested at Benld, Ill., Saturday Results in Capture of All Implicated.

Five men and a woman, four of them St. Louisans, are under arrest today charged with participation in the theft of $8100 in the holdup of an East St. Louis and Suburban Railway street car at Nineteenth and State streets, East St. Louis, on July 19, when the car carried five other employes were taken away from the car.

A written confession by Robert Kennedy, 18 years old, of Benld, Ill., arrested Saturday night, started East St. Louis and St. Louis police on a search for those he named. The last of the six implicated was taken in St. Louis this morning.

Woman Held as Accessory.
Mrs. Settle Stephenson, 20 years old, 1714 Illinois avenue, East St.
Louis, is the woman in the case,
held as accessory. Warrants charging robbery were issued yesterday against Kennedy, and two men who described themselves as Albert Rodes, 29, of 2918 Garfield avenue, St. Louis, and Frank Sudbeck, who gave a Grand boulevard address.

Last night St. Louis detectives searched at his home, Irvin Loch-man, 21, of 1515 Weststran street,
and this morning, Joseph Giardano, 25, of 1128 North Eighth street,
both of whom have been arrested as suspects many times.

They denied knowledge of the robbery, but were identified today by Kennedy and Rodes, who has also confessed. Sudbeck was released last night on $10,000 bond.

'Getaway' Cars Placed.
According to East St. Louis police, Kennedy said the robbery was planned in Mrs. Stephenson's house and information obtained by Sudbeck from some secret source.

The three cars used in the robbery were in a garage in back of the Stephenson house and the two relay cars were "planted" in agreed places on the route of flight shortly before the robbery took place. Kennedy said he got $306
as his share, in nickels and dimes, and denied any part in the actual robbery.

two robbers in the $14,000 holdup of two messengers of the Union-Easton Trust Co. last June 22, was turned over to the police yesterday by Troy, Ill., authorities. It was found Sunday in a wood near Troy. Seven men are under investigation in the case. The car used by them had been stolen from the Fairmount race track. It was the property of W. E. Tharp of Nashville, Ill., and will be sent to him today by the local police.

BODIES OF TWO DROWNED SUNDAY ARE RECOVERED

One of Women Comes to Surface

Bodies of two persons drowned Sunday St. Louis while on outings were recovered yesterday.

The body of Miss Lynita Heberber, 19 years old, of 4585 West Pine boulevard, who was drowned in the Meramec River below Pen-nate, came to the surface at noon.
A professional diver and the girl's father were seeking the body a short space away at the time.

Heberber, an employee of the northwestern Bell Telephone Co., was carried into a depth of 20 feet water by the current while wading with other young people.

Divers yesterday morning found the body of Edwin Kern, 22 a lin-man, of 2149 Elm avenue, Wellston, who was drowned at the junction of the Big Slough and the Mississippi River, St. Charles County.
The body was recovered about 30 feet from where Kern sank.

Body of Youth Thought to Be in the Mississippi.
Swimmers today are living in the vicinity of Wiggins Ferry dock, near the east bank of the Mississippi River for the body of Raymond Redmond, 17 years old, of 2222 Birch avenue, East St. Louis.
It is believed to have drowned while swimming with four companions at 7 o'clock last night.

While all the boys were in the water Redmond was missed. No one saw him go down. His clothing, left on the bank, was taken to his home.

Woman Disappears From Hospital.
Harry Lindsay of Hotel Jefferson was asked police to look for his wife, Sarah, 26 years old, who has not been seen since 2:30 p. m.
yesterday, when she walked away from the Missouri Baptist Sanitarium, where she had been a patient, suffering from nervousness.

GENTRY WON'T DISMISS CASE AGAINST SIDENER

It Will Be Continued by Agreement, However, When Called Tomorrow.

The trial of Circuit Attorney Howard Sidener on a charge of compounding a felony in connection with the Rutherford murder case settlement will be continued by agreement of counsel when it is called by Circuit Judge Hays of Hannibal in Judge Landwehr's court tomorrow morning.

Attorney-General Gentry said by long-distance telephone from Jefferson City today that he would not dismiss the charge against Sidener, but would go to trial as some later date.

There had been rumors emanating from defense counsel that the State would dismiss its case against Sidener because of failure to convict A. Samuel Bender of a similar charge.

JACOB KATZ WON'T TELL WHAT HE DID
WITH $8000 FUND

Sol tells visitors that Jake is touring the East with his automobile.
When asked why Jake's car is in Chicago while he is touring the East, Sol says, "Oh, that car is long to Joe Koshstein." Asked to produce Joe Koshstein, Sol laughs.

Do Business Under Five Names.
Inquiry into the business conducted by Sol and Jake Katz at the North Ashland avenue plant has disclosed that they do business under five different trade names. They call themselves at various times the J. Katz Novelty and Jewelry Co., the Chicago Board Manufacturing Co., the Reliance Novelty Co., the J. & B. Katz Co.
and the Katz Jewelry Co. The punchboard factory is a large one-story brick building, recently constructed. Aside from a large stock of punchboards, the firm also carries in storage 500 slot machines.
Both punchboards and slot machines are against the law in Chicago.

The Katz plant at all times presents a mysterious aspect. There is no street number on the door.
Three girl stenographers who invariably know nothing about the whereabouts of Sol or Jake Katz work in the small office. Sol and Jake usually may be found in the office early in the morning and around noon. All the time Sol was asserting that Jake was away in the East. He professed not to know exactly where. He said Jake had not communicated with him, that he did not know Jake's forwarding address.

Jake or Jacob R. Katz at Desk.
While he was telling reporters all this, Jake sat at his desk, a few feet away, insisting that he was "Jacob R. Katz, secretary of the firm, and not the man you want to see." Jacob R. Katz, incidentally, was the name signed on the contract with Maher.

Katz has reasons for avoiding reporters. They wish to question him concerning his management of the huge slot machine pool which "opened up the town" in St. Louis last March and April by obtaining a temporary restraining order from Circuit Judge Ittner.

More than 1200 slot machines reaped a harvest for about a month until Circuit Judge Calhoun, before whom the case was taken by the Police Board on a charge of venue, dissolved Judge Ittner's order and permitted police to seize the devices. The St. Louis Mint Co. was the nominal petitioner for the injunction, but all members of the pool profited by Judge Ittner's order.

Reporters wish to ask Katz what Maher did to earn his $2000 fee and what became of the other $8000 placed in the bank.

UFLAND NAMES OTHER MEN IN JEWELRY FRAUDS

Sentencing of Former St.
Louisian, Who Fled After Failing in Business Is Again Deferred.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Indication that St. Louisans and others involved in the irregular operations of Jacob Underwood Ufland, absconding jeweler of New York and St. Louis, might be indicated here was given today when sentence was again deferred on Ufland, who pleaded guilty two weeks ago to conspiracy to hide assets from creditors.

The sentence was deferred by Federal Judge Mack on motion of Assistant District Attorney Sigel,
after the latter had studied a transcript of testimony given in private by Ufland since he surrendered.

Sigel decided there was ground for indictment of other parties to the conspiracy admitted by Ufland, and therefore it was deemed better to have Ufland where he can be reached if it is desired to use him as a witness before the grand jury.

Ufland was president of the defunct National Jewelry Co. of St.
Louis and the Milton Watch Co.
of New York. Claims approximating $800,000 resulted from his failures.

Since his plea was entered two weeks ago, Ufland has appeared almost daily at the offices of Greenbaum, Wolfe and Ernst, counsel for the National Jewelers' Board of Trade, and has told much to incriminate others in the events that led to the failure of Ufland's companies and five other establishments in St. Louis that had dealings with Ufland.

POLICE SERGT. MATHEWS, ASLEEP IN AUTO, RESIGNS

Police Sergt. Wade Mathews, son of a late police captain and a member of the force for 12 years, resigned after Capt. Agee of the Deer Street district, his commanding officer, had found him asleep in an automobile at 10:30 a. m. yesterday at Louisiana and Geyer avenue.

Mathews, who lives at 3204a
Shenandoah avenue, was off duty at 7 a. m. yesterday. At 10 o'clock a woman called headquarters on the telephone and said a policeman with his coat off was asleep in his car near her home. It was Mathews, who wrote before being known to make a public statement of such tremendous stock market importance, and for this reason many who know him expressed the greatest scepticism at yesterday's pronouncement. But there was no discernable doubt on the floor of the Stock Exchange and sharply at noon Post No. 5 on the broad floor became the center of a bedlam of frantic brokers.

General Motors had opened strong, advancing so sharply, even prior to publication of the Cochran interview, that observers wondered if some development of importance was not in the offing.

By 11 o'clock the stock had reached $194.75, an advance of more than 5 points. This movement continued without important check throughout the day, the heaviest buying and the sharpest gain coming in the final hour of trading.

At that time almost half the brokers on the floor were in the surging mob around the General Motors post. Huge blocks of the stock changed hands and sharp-dent bulls added to their commitments. When the quotation neared $200 a share the market ran into a heavy volume of offerings, apparently representing profit taking,
and a bid for 9000 shares—involving a total cost of $1,800,000—was necessary to lift it above this record figure. Thereupon a deafening roar went up, and in every brokerage room was such jubilation as at Yale when Eli pushes through Harvard for a touchdown.

Net Gain of $12 a Share.
The stock closed at $201.50 a share, a net gain of $12 a share for the day. This means an aggregate market appreciation of $69,600,000 on the 5,500,000 shares of General Motors outstanding. The total turnover for the day amounted to 275,500 shares. Yellow Truck & Coach, controlled by General Motors, also was heavily dealt in, advancing 4 1/2 points.

It was not until the close of the market that Wall Street steeled down to analyze the interview credited to Cochran. And then it got no further than to wonder what would happen today. Whether Cochran said it or not, the majority concluded, it sounded reasonable.

Michael Coyne Bequeathed Half of
It to Charity Organization.

Michael Coyne, 50 years old, 5009

ago, left an estate estimated at $20,000, nearly half of which he bequeathed to the Little Sisters of the Poor. Other bequests totaling $11,500 are provided for in the will, including $2000 to a brother, Patrick Coyne of Ireland; $8000 to other relatives; $1000 for religious purposes and $500 to William Finn, a friend. Michael Coyne was a laborer and watchman. His estate resulted from years of saving.

WOMAN AND YOUTH SLAIN; SUSPECT ENDS HIS LIFE

Divorcee, 30, and 19-Year-Old Companion Chased and Shot to Death When Riding in Auto.

By the Associated Press.
CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 3.—A single bullet, left in a pistol which authorities say was used in the midnight killing of Otto Itin, 19 years old, and Mamie King Metzger, 30, twice a divorcee, today ended the life of Raymond Ross, 25, a farmer living near Felicity,
O., just as he was about to be arrested for the double murder.

Ross, a suitor for the affections of Mrs. Metzger, shot himself through the head as Sheriff Cross-well of Clermont County and Marshal Colvin of Felicity approached his house.

Itin and Mrs. Metzger visited friends last night. As they neared Rural, where the divorcee lived, they apparently sensed they were being followed and drove into the driveway of the country home of Joseph Broadwell. A little later five shots were heard by the Broad-well family and they saw a coupe speeding away. They then discovered the bodies in Itin's automobile. Both had been shot through the heart.

Mrs. Metzger and young Itin first met at a dance Saturday night.
Ross was there and Mrs. Metzger was reported as telling him that she was "through with him."

Ross, neighbors said, had been infatuated with her. Sheriff Cross-well said evidence gathered implicated Ross as the slayer.

TWO WINDOWS SMASHED AT RECALL HEADQUARTERS

Broken Panes in City Club Building Bore Signs of the Anti-Miller Organization.

When attaches of the Miller Recall Committee, which circulated petitions for the recall of Mayor Miller, arrived at their offices on the second floor of the City Club Building this morning they found that someone had broken two plate glass windows, each 6 feet square, overlooking Locust street, overnight. Apparently a full soda bottle was used to shatter each window, for two bottles were found on the floor unbroken.

On each window had been the sign in large letters, "Miller Recall Headquarters." John J. Hell, chairman of the Recall Committee, said: "I hardly think anybody in favor of the recall did this."

Daily reports of the number of signatures on the petitions were discontinued June 24, when it was stated the total was 94,714. The goal set was 150,000. Hell said the petitions would be filed in time for the question to be voted on at the November election.

wheel of a freight train at the Wa-

Grandmother, 60, Flies 435 Miles to Funeral

Mrs. Marcus Harris of St.
Louis in First Air Trip, Goes From Chicago to Leavenworth, Kan., to Attend Rites for Brother.

Although she is 60 years old and a grandmother, Mrs. Marcus Harris of 14 Washington terrace had no hesitation in deciding to make her first airplane journey Sunday morning, when she was confronted with the necessity of making the trip from Chicago to Leavenworth, Kan., by Sunday afternoon to attend the funeral of a brother.

Accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Robert H. Isaacson of Chicago, Mrs. Harris made the 435-mile flight to Leavenworth in exactly four hours at an average speed of almost 110 miles an hour.
She arrived half an hour in advance of the funeral. By train she would have got to Leavenworth Monday.

Mrs. Harris at Petoskey, Mich., on a vacation Saturday morning when her husband, the vice president of the B. Harris Wool Co., called her by long distance telephone to tell her that her brother, Joseph Abeles, a druggist of Leavenworth, had died.

The word came too late to allow
Mrs. Harris to get the morning train and she did not arrive in Chicago until Sunday morning.
There she was met by Mrs. Isaacson, who informed her that by train
she could not arrive in Leavenworth until Monday.

Members of the family at Leavenworth had telegraphed that the funeral could be postponed for her late arrival, but Mrs. Harris telegraphed them that she would be there Sunday in time.

An airplane was chartered by telephone. It took off at 10:30
a. m. Sunday from Chicago with Mrs. Harris and her daughter as passengers and was set down at 2:30 p. m. at Leavenworth after a perfect trip, reaching her brother's home at 3:30. The funeral was set for 4 p. m.

The airplane was chartered from a Chicago commercial flight company for $280. The flyer returned to Chicago Monday morning and Mrs. Harris and her daughter left Leavenworth by train Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Harris, who has six children and 10 grandchildren, expressed to the aviator her appreciation of his successful flight.

Abeles, who died early Saturday, was a bachelor. Besides Mrs. Harris he is survived by three brothers, Julius, Morris and Dr. Edward Abeles, of Leavenworth, and two sisters, Miss Tillie Abeles of Leavenworth and Mrs. Simon Hartmann of Chicago.

70 HOMICIDES IN CITY TO DATE FOR THIS YEAR

Exclusive of Auto Deaths — Cases Involving Negroes Keep Police Busy.

Today is the 214th day of the year, and the number of persons meeting violent deaths, chiefly from gunshot wounds and stabs, and not including those killed by automobiles and other vehicles, has reached 70—an average, approximately, of one killed every third day.

Especially have police been kept busy investigating violent deaths among Negroes. In the last 28 days 13 Negroes have been killed in fights, prompted mainly by jealousy, intoxication or ill-will engendered by gambling. Two deaths last night are typical.

Lester Mason, 23 years old, a Negro, of 2821 Lawton boulevard, saw his common-law wife, Helen Rush, 23, talking with another man near their home, and he sliced at her with a pocket knife. She ran into a butcher shop, came out with a knife and stabbed Mason through the heart.

A dice game in an alley near 908 North Ewing avenue broke up with the loser, Charles Jackson, Negro, chasing the winners, Clarence Cowan, 34, Negro, of 2935 Franklin avenue, and Benjamin Oldham, 26, Negro, of 3127 A Bell avenue. Jackson had a revolver and called on the others to halt, but they kept on running. Jackson shot Cowan in the head, killing him, and Oldham in the chest, seriously wounding him. Then Jackson disappeared.

Requests of Non-Catholics at Vatican to Be Examined in Future.

ROME, Aug. 3.—It was officially announced at the Vatican today that before non-Catholic audiences are granted in the future, it must be made clear that they are not desired merely to satisfy curiosity. It was stated that several incidents had occurred in which non-Catholics showed an attitude unbecoming to the occasion.

The best tea for iced tea is INDIA TEA or a blend containing India Tea

No other iced drink compares with India Tea for its stimulating properties. Whether taken hot or cold, India Tea invigorates and cheers. It is simple to prepare. Your grocer can supply you, or will gladly get it for you. But be sure you prepare it in the correct way. This is the only way to make good iced tea:

1. Use an earthenware teapot.
2. Put in one teaspoonful of India Tea for each glass of tea.
3. Be sure the water is poured into the teapot the moment it boils. Allow to stand for 4 or 5 minutes to infuse.
4. Fill the glass with cracked ice, add a slice of lemon, and pour in the tea.
5. Add sugar to taste.

Drink India Tea, hot or cold, for a little while, and you will drink it regularly. Serve it to your guests, and see how it promotes cheery conversation.

BUT be sure you use INDIA TEA or a blend containing INDIA TEA

SIX RAILROADS CUT RATES ON GRAIN

I. C. C. Grants Permission for Decrease to Meet Reduction by the M. & St. L.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—A fight of middle and northwestern railroads and flour mills to handle the Southwest's wheat crop has come before the Interstate Commerce Commission in a successful plea by six carriers for permission to lower their rates to compete with the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railway. The commission granted the six roads special permission to establish milling-in-transit privileges at points on their lines, amounting to a decrease of three cents per 100 pounds, on wheat from Missouri river points to destinations east of the Illinois-Indiana State line. The rate decrease was sought to equal that which the Minneapolis & St. Louis has arranged to put into effect late this month on grain from the southwest to Minneapolis and nearby mills.

The petitioning roads are the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha, Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, Chicago Great Western, Chicago & Northwestern, Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul. They sought to have the reduced rates become effective after one day's notice to the commission, but its order required the usual five days prescribed by law. The carriers advised the commission that the Southwest has produced an abundant wheat crop and that in some places the grain has been piled on the ground at elevators because they were unable to handle it. This condition, they said, had prompted Northwestern mills to make large purchases of wheat, and that the fact that the Minneapolis & St. Louis had reduced its charges from 11 to 8 cents per 100 pounds on the grain had given mills in Minneapolis and Southern Minnesota on its line a three-cent advantage over all mills on the lines of the petitioning carriers. Mills on the six railroads, their petition said, had urged them to seek the same rate reduction privilege so that they could compete successfully with mills on the Minneapolis & St. Louis.

Decision Does Not Affect Out of M. & St. L. to Seaboard.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—The requests of six Western railroads for permission to reduce by 3 cents per 100 pounds on grain from Southwestern areas to Minnesota mills, granted yesterday by the Interstate Commerce Commission, does not involve the situation created by a recent reduction by the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railroad of rates on grain from Minneapolis to the Atlantic seaboard, officials of the Western Truck Lines Association explained today.

The action of the M. & St. L., which will be met through the permission granted to competing roads, was taken some time ago, officials said, and was entirely separate from the M. & St. L.'s reduction in through rates to the seaboard, which the roads already have announced they will not meet.

MAN WITH K. K. K. BADGE HELD FOR CARRYING PISTOL

Gus C. Henson, Who Admits Being Member of Klan, Arrested on Same Charge Before.

Information came to Joseph Misuraco of 1420 North Market street that threats to shoot him had been made, and he called a policeman to his home yesterday afternoon. While the policeman was there an automobile drove up outside.

The policeman found an automatic pistol on the driver, who said he was Gus C. Henson, 39 years old, a foreman, of 311 Chambers street. The man also had a badge of the "Intelligence division, Ku Klux Klan, Indiana No. 1," and admitted being a klanman. He made no statement regarding the pistol.

Police records show Henson was arrested March 6 last for carrying a concealed weapon, but was discharged in Court of Criminal Correction by Judge Gayer.

EASTERN GLACIER PARK SAFE

Forest Fire Situation in Western District Improved.

By the Associated Press.
MISSOULA, Mont., Aug. 3.—With the forest fire situation in the Western Glacier Park district reported greatly improved, more than 4000 men are attempting to establish control lines around large stands of timber burning in Idaho, Montana and Eastern Washington. The Kanika, Flathead, Blackfoot, Coeur d'Alene and Pend d'Oreille forests have been hardest hit. Campers on Lake McDonald at the western entrance to Glacier Park were returning to their cottages today after fleeing Saturday when flames menaced several camps. The eastern side of the park, where most of the visitors enter, has not been threatened by fires.

WALKS WITH HIS BACK BROKEN

Williams College Junior Will Be Able to Play Football in 1927.

By the Associated Press.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 3.—Edward Douglas Howard of Chicago, a junior at Williams College, hobbled about with a cane for more than a week before physicians here discovered that he had a broken back. He was strapped into a specially made apparatus and taken to his father's summer home at Chautauqua, N. Y., to recuperate. Physicians today said he would be able to play football in the fall of 1927.

Howard was injured more than a month ago when he dived into the shallow end of a pool and struck his head on the bottom. A short time later, while delirious, he leaped from a third-story window of the infirmary. He recovered sufficiently to come to Buffalo alone, where an X-ray examination disclosed the broken vertebrae.

CHORUS GIRL IS HELD FOR SHOOTING FRIEND

Betty Queen Accidentally Killed Margaret Craig in Tussle to Prevent Suicide.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., Aug. 3.—Miss Betty Queen, formerly of the "Isle of Roses" ballet, playing out of Kansas City, but more recently a chorus girl in Philadelphia, is locked up in the county jail at Burlington with her Pekinese dog. She is charged with murder, and is held without bail pending action of the grand jury in September, on the ground that having accidentally shot her best friend, who was trying to prevent her from committing suicide, she had killed during the course of a felony and may be held for murder, attempt at suicide being a felony in New Jersey.

Miss Queen's friend was Margaret Craig, formerly of Des Moines, known to the show business as "Pearl McSherry" and to her friends as "Red." With her and Dorine O'Connor, Miss Queen, nicknamed by them "Gyp," had rented a small bungalow overlooking Mirror Lake at Brown's Mills, 10 miles from here.

Saturday night, however, "Red" and "Gyp" got tired of cards and started drinking. All night long they kept at it, singing and telling stories until a neighbor, who lived in the next cottage, protested. Sunday morning they ran out of liquor and got some more. All that day they just sat around in their bathing suits. It was getting dark and neither "Red" nor "Gyp" had had a think to eat for 24 hours or more when "Gyp" started saying she was going to end it all. And "Red" said: "You're straight comedy. You haven't got the nerve."

"Gyp" pulled a shotgun from the wall, one of the ornaments which had come with the place furnished, and tried to hold it at herself. "Red" grabbed the weapon and they wrestled for it. They staggered outdoors still wrestling, just as Dorine saw "Gyp's" note saying: "This is not to blame anyone. Just blame myself. I'm going to blow my brains out. I'm just tired of living. I mean everything I say."

While she was reading it Dorine heard the discharge of the weapon. She ran out and saw "Red" lying on her back, riddled with shot.

Dorine, formerly of Centralia, Ill., is locked up, too, as a material witness.

PONZI LOSES EXTRADITION FIGHT, TO APPEAL TO COURT

Erstwhile "Financial Wizard"

Seeks Habeas Corpus Writ to Prevent Return to Boston.

By the Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 3.—Charles Ponzi, erstwhile "financial wizard" of Boston, tomorrow will face his second legal fight within two days to prevent his extradition to Massachusetts to serve from seven to nine years as a "common and notorious thief."

Gov. Ferguson yesterday honored the requisition of Gov. Fuller of Massachusetts for Ponzi, but Ponzi is to carry his appeal to the District Court of Judge Ashe here on a habeas corpus proceeding.

If Judge Ashe holds Ponzi is illegally restrained, Gov. Ferguson's approval of his extradition would be of no avail and Ponzi would be released. Should the Court refuse to release him, Ponzi plans an appeal to the State Court of Criminal Appeals as the first step in carrying the case to the Supreme Court.

Ponzi is basing his fight for a habeas corpus writ on his claim to being an Italian citizen and that he was taken from an Italian ship when it docked at New Orleans.

At the extradition hearing yesterday, Ponzi's counsel maintained that his arrest was in violation of a treaty between Italy and the United States, made in 1868, under which, they declared, the vessel from which he was taken was Italian territory and his arrest therefore illegal.

HUSBAND AND WIFE BOTH SEEK DIVORCE SAME DAY

Man's Petition Filed Three Hours Ahead of Wife's; Each Says Other Nags.

Gustave Johns, 401 Duchouquette street, and his wife, Mrs. Ruth Johns, 2313A South Second street, each decided to sue for a divorce yesterday, but he arrived three hours ahead of her at the divorce court.

Johns' petition charging the wife with general indignities was filed before noon in the Circuit Court. She came in late in the afternoon and filed a suit against him for legal separation, also alleging indignities. She charged Johns with nagging her, striking her and failing to take her to places of amusement, while his petition averred she was the one who was quarrelsome and nagging, thereby making his home life unhappy.

They were married in August, 1923, and separated last May.

TELL OF SIGNS OF THE WORLD TEACHER

Theosophist Pilgrims Describe Apparent Possession of Spirit by Krishnamurti.

Copyright, 1926, by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co. (New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Pilgrims returning from the camp of the Star in the East at Ommen, Holland, gave eyewitness accounts today of the apparent possession by a spirit of J. Krishnamurti, the young Indian, whom they believe to be the chosen vehicle for the coming of the World Teacher.

While they were in camp they were under pledge not to talk with outsiders, but now they are bursting with the wonder of their experience. A retired officer, 37 years in a crack British military regiment, said:

Not the Voice of Krishnamurti. "It happened at the evening camp fire, while Krishnamurti spoke of the good life. I suddenly felt an overwhelming impulse to remove my hat reverently. I noticed the men in front doing the same. Two thousand of us were around the camp fire. I was at a little distance. I am certain I saw a shudder run through Krishnamurti's body, but I can't say whether his expression changed. "I was conscious that another voice than Krishnamurti's was speaking. The voice used old English, which Krishnamurti has never done. This continued four or five minutes, then Krishnamurti sat down. I was conscious of the utter stillness.

Insects in the Trees Quieted. "Not only the 2000 pilgrims, but the very insects in the trees were quiet and even the fire stopped crackling. We felt we had all become parts of one vast body. I should judge the silence lasted 10 or 15 minutes."

The officer said he had never had an experience with the occult before.

Another, a Cambridge physicist, now experimenting with the microscope so that his eyesight is specially trained, declared he saw a "huge star over Krishnamurti's head burst into fragments and come raining down. For an instant I thought I was back in France." This was observed on two successive nights.

PART TWO.

The Liquor Problem in Canada Social Workers Note Decline In Drunkenness Under Quebec System of Liquor Control

Dry Organization's Secretary Condemns the Plan, However, as Fastening the Habit of Drinking on the Rising Generation—Comparison of Sales in Montreal Shows Transients—Most of Them Americans—Are Heaviest Purchasers of Spirits.

It is the tenth of a series of articles surveying the liquor problem and its handling in various countries.

MONTREAL, Aug. 3.—Ardent prohibitionists still picture Quebec's system in extravagant terms of wine and drunkenness. As a matter of fact, this modern version of the old saloon gives little evidence of festering inebriety.

The English-speaking workman in Quebec gets his relaxation and his glass of beer, stout or ale under the sheltering roof, but not propped against a bar. The French-Canadian cares little for the tavern so long as he can have his bottle of wine. Beer drinking is foreign to his taste and tradition.

At present there are 2186 taverns in the Province of Quebec, including those in the hotels. They range from the way from the leather-cushioned and oak-furnished hotel to the little of the small town. On the whole they look much like the old-fashioned swinging doors, poster advertisements and cloudy glass.

There is no brass rail, and serving liquor over the counter is forbidden. Waiters must bring the drinks to the tables. There is an air of decorum, rarely violated. It will thus to some extent that men spend their Saturday nights in the tavern, but they are not able to buy as much money as in the States when they ordered spirits. They do become so readily inebriated.

Local Societies Lead Less Drinking.

It is a rare phenomenon in Quebec to see a man reeling out of a tavern. The superintendent of the Old Brewery Mission in Montreal makes a point of this, commenting: "Eight years ago drunkenness was rampant. The mission had a large number of broken, destitute men, homeless floaters and drifters, with no ambition and no vision. Today there is still drinking, but it is the exception, not the rule. Men are ashamed rather than proud of being drunk today."

It was this sentiment that was voiced in Quebec. Men of affairs are agreed that drunkenness among the natives has virtually disappeared, and that it is considered rather disgraceful to abuse the liquor privileges. Only the natives are permitted to do that with comment or criticism. And this is chiefly because people feel that prohibition has made it almost inevitable in his case.

The Montreal Society for the Protection of Women and Children commented on drunkenness in its last annual report as follows:

Statistics for 10 months show that more than 1000 cases have been reported. 11 per cent had alcoholism attributed as a basic cause of the trouble which induced wives and children to bring their cases to the police for advice and aid. This is a low percentage compared with the 25 per cent which usually prevails in large cities.

This testimony is practically unanimous among social agencies working impartially with the lower classes of society. They find that the natives are improved, that health is better, and that the people as a whole are more contented.

Adjutant Harding of the social service department of the Salvation Army in Quebec reports: "I have found it much easier to be the men of Quebec than in any other city in Canada. In my other cities I have seen men who have been with humanity in its lowest form from time to time. One of the worst forms of inebriation with which we have been met is drunkenness, but I have met with it in Quebec."

Dry Secretary's Views.

On the other hand the dries, who are militant but limited organizations in Quebec, charge that the conditions are worse than they were. They point to bank-ruptcies as being more numerous in Quebec than in Ontario. But this is as long ago as 1917. Montreal actually has the greatest number of failures of the business community, but it also has the most densely populated, the most complex business operations and the greatest number of drifters from other parts of the Province.

Speaking for the Quebec Prohibition Federation, E. I. Hart, its secretary, claims that under Government control the number of drinkers is rapidly increasing.

"The drink habit is fastening like a leech upon the people," he says, "and social circles that have tolerated liquors for years ago have been successful in the liquor traffic. A number of these cases have been detected during the last year and such punishment," he declared, "Young men and women, even boys and girls in some cases, are acquiring the habit. It is not conventional unless they drink. Most of these recruits drink wines."

Beer can be bought by the bottle or case at grocery shops, and this is the procedure followed when it is being purchased for the home. Poster ads for various brands of drinks dapple the countryside as they did in this country in pre-prohibition days.

The whole system of purchase in Quebec is simple and orderly. The commission stores have no visible traces on the outside of the immense assortment of bottles concealed on their shelves within brown paper wrappings. The windows are screened with the simple titular announcement in gold lettering. Inside there is a grill much like that of a bank and behind this caging a row of clerks.

Two large price lists prominently displayed on the wall give all the information about prices, so that no time is wasted in haggling. In Montreal's most representative liquor store hundreds of cases in and out in the course of a day, leaving with the type of parcel that is recognized all over town, but does not cause any embarrassment in the carrying. Bags are used where a customer is buying several bottles of wine, gin or whiskey.

Americans 10 to 1 Among Buyers.

In the lineup in this particular shop during the summer months, Americans are 10 to 1, cracking jokes and comparing notes. Their orders are always the same—whiskey or gin. The natives are more apt to be buying wine. Women stand in line as unconcerned as they might in a grocery or a dress shop. No opprobrium attaches to paying a visit to the liquor commission.

In the French quarters there is more life, more gaiety in the line-up. Black-eyed girls engage in animated chit-chat with the other buyers, or gesticulate frantically at the clerks until their favorite brands of wine are produced. Every one is matter-of-fact about the business of buying liquor. The average purchase is from one to three bottles.

Six of Montreal's liquor stores sold the following amounts last year—the first three indicating transients trade, the last three local trade:

(1) Spirits	31,201
(2) Wines	31,201
(3) Spirits	34,745
(4) Wines	12,913
(5) Spirits	15,471
(6) Wines	9,000
(7) Spirits	4,482
(8) Wines	6,728
(9) Spirits	11,951
(10) Wines	3,164
(11) Spirits	2,878

High Excise Tax on Spirits.

One of the factors that make whiskey expensive in Quebec is the high excise duty. The Dominion Government levies heavy customs, excise and sales taxes. On every imperial quart bottle (40 ounces) of Scotch the initial charges amount to $2.51. This must be paid by the consumer in addition to the original and all subsequent costs of the whiskey itself. There is also the profit of the Liquor Commission to be counted in. This raises the selling price to about $5 a bottle. The range is from $55 to $65 a case.

It is a recognized fact that bootlegging rings operating in Boston and New York, with no such taxes to pay, distribute whiskey in the Eastern States at a much lower price—from $42 to $45, plus the cost of transportation. At times they even smuggle it into Canada.

Pure alcohol is subject to an extremely high excise duty—$3 the proof gallon. This is reduced to $2.40 in the case of wholesale bonded manufacturers and licensed druggists. Denatured alcohol may be bought without restriction, since it is free of excise duty and sold under Dominion supervision. This has led to a certain amount of trouble.

"No denaturant has yet been discovered by the wit of man which cannot be neutralized or virtually expelled by means of other chemicals," says a statement by the Liquor Commission reports.

"Here, then, was an opportunity for recovery of duty-free potable alcohol, although expressly forbidden by law, for beverage purposes which was not long overlooked by those seeking to profit from the illicit liquor traffic. A number of such cases have been detected during the last year and such punishment," he declared, "Young men and women, even boys and girls in some cases, are acquiring the habit. It is not conventional unless they drink. Most of these recruits drink wines."

NO SURFACE SIGNS OF OUTBREAK OVER CHURCH IN MEXICO

Labor Organ Charges, However, Catholics Hope to Overthrow the Calles Government.

ATTITUDE OF U. S. CLOSELY WATCHED

Its Lifting of Arms Embargo Would Aid Malcontents—Episcopate's "Truce" Rejected.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 3.—By leaving the churches open to the public, the Government has scored strongly against the clergy in the first stages of the conflict between the Catholic church and the Mexican civil authorities. Since the people find they can go inside and pray as usual, even though the Host is absent, they betray little inclination to revolt, so far as surface indications are concerned.

On the other hand, although the country has settled back into its normal state of passivity after the first emotional apprehension, there are still rumors of revolution heard on every corner. While the Government expects the clerical temper to blow over without bloodshed and expects defections among the separatist movement resulting in clerical self-government in Mexico, the Labor organ, El Sol, in an editorial, asks: "Is revolution on foot?"

"There are rumors everywhere," El Sol continues. "The economic boycott organized by the National League for Freedom and the Religious Freedom, and the League of Priests dictated by the Archbishop point to it. The Catholic call is for a religious war. They aim to overthrow the Calles government and to re-establish a Government that will restore church property to the priesthood and allow the church the freedom it deems necessary for its existence. 'Reaction' these plans are called by Government spokesmen—and were so called by labor."

The transfer of Catholic churches into the hands of municipally appointed citizens' committees who will have charge of them during the absence of the priests, continued quietly yesterday and today.

Dispute Over Inventory.

The Cathedral in Mexico City continues closed. The municipal committee refuses to accept the inventory given by the church authorities, declaring that several gold vessels are missing. The committees have reported to municipal authorities that valuable articles are missing from almost every Catholic Church in Mexico City and are investigating the whereabouts of the missing articles.

Attitude of U. S. Watched.

Every session of revolution in Mexico begins with a question: "What will the United States do?" Will the Government at Washington continue to support the Government in power in Mexico after the precedent set in 1923, when it sold arms and ammunition to Obregon and thereby enabled him to put down the de la Huerta movement? Or will the Government at Washington, influenced by Catholic propaganda in the United States, back the opposition to the Calles government by lifting the arms embargo and perhaps withdrawing Ambassador Sheffield and its recognition of the present Mexican Government? Upon the answers to these questions, according to Catholics, depends whether or not there shall be bloodshed.

Calles Declines Truce.

The proposal of the Catholic archbishop for a truce in the religious warfare has been declined by President Calles, but peace measures continue behind the scenes. Hope exists that they will result in some progress toward ending the deadlock between the Government and the Catholic church in Mexico.

President Calles, in rejecting the proposal of the archbishop, declared "the Federal Government will only limit itself to act with the required energy to enforce the laws of this country."

Added strength to the hand of President Calles was seen in the statement given in Nogales, Ariz., by former President Obregon in support of the Government in the religious controversy. Obregon, a potential presidential candidate in the 1928 election, declared the dignitaries of the Catholic church had provoked conflict when, "through the mouth of their most exalted representative, Senor Mora y Del Rio (Archbishop of Mexico), the first declarations were made public with an evident rebellious spirit against the fundamental laws in force."

Protest From U. S. Official.

What is considered here a virtual protest by United States Consul-General Weddell has been deposited with the Department of State. It concerns the taking over by the Mexican Government of the laws permit, in every case with seizure and confiscation of stills and products. It is difficult, however, to secure conviction of the real principals and mere payment of fines is altogether inadequate as punishment.

First of Religious Refugees Reach New York From Mexico

SEVEN nuns of the Order of Servants of Mary in Mexico, who fled from Vera Cruz 10 days ago, disembarked at New York from the steamship Reina Marie Christina.

Episcopal Church of San Jose de Guadalupe last Saturday night, a Mexican rector, acting under jurisdiction of Bishop Frank W. Creighton, had been in charge of the church, which has been owned by the Episcopal Church since 1897. It is officially indicated, both in Mexican and American quarters, that the situation probably will be amicably adjusted without recourse to diplomatic exchanges. It is asserted that the Mexican Episcopal clergyman in charge of the church failed to register as required by the Mexican Government, and as soon as this technicality is overcome the church will be returned to his charge.

The transfer of Catholic churches into the hands of municipally appointed citizens' committees who will have charge of them during the absence of the priests, continued quietly yesterday and today.

MUSSOLINI CUTS AMOUNT OF FLOUR IN ITALY'S LOAVES

Undertakes by This Decree to Reduce Imports of Wheat From Foreign Countries.

NO SHORTAGE OF CROP AT HOME

Wartime Bread Cards Failed to Achieve Economy So Order to Use 15 Pct. of Bran Is Given.

By Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

ROME, Aug. 3.—Premier Mussolini reached another milestone on his road to Italy's economic independence yesterday when he presided at a Cabinet council which passed several regulations expected to cut down the country's consumption of wheat flour.

Foremost in interest among the new rules is that about bread. Until further notice, one particular type of loaf is O. K. for rich and poor alike throughout the country. It must not exceed 200 grammes in weight, or about six ounces. It must contain not more than from 80 to 85 per cent of wheat flour, the rest being bran. The exact percentage of the latter may be determined by the local authorities within these limits. No "luxury" bread may be sold until further notice.

No Wheat Flour in Cake.

Pastry cooks may not sell cake containing any wheat flour. As the number of pastry shops has increased enormously since the war, it is expected that the new rule, which will be severely enforced, will enable the Government to economize greatly in the importation of wheat.

It is noteworthy that the official report of the Cabinet Council meeting stresses the unanimity with which experts advised the Government to return to the old country bread, to achieve economy in the consumption of wheat.

The new bread measures were not undertaken because of any particular shortage in home-grown wheat, for the crops probably will be average. Had the harvest been good, there would have been a crop considerably above former years, as the Premier has encouraged farmers to sow more wheat.

Seek to Cut Grain Imports.

The new bread policy aims at cutting imports of wheat and grains included among the large sums in dollars and pounds sterling for the Government to cut expenses.

Count Volpi, Finance Minister, urged economy in all departments and at the same time expressed satisfaction at further progress in the financial fight. He said the public debt had been reduced by 1,500,000 lira at the end of July. The regular diminution of paper in circulation is proceeding satisfactorily, while the concentration of all exchange operations in the Banca d'Italia, and the purchase of foreign currencies for the Government's requirements cannot but improve the position of the treasury.

The Council heartily applauded his measure.

CARDINAL BONZANO AT NAPLES

NAPLES, Italy, Aug. 3.—John Cardinal Bonzano, Papal Legate to the recent Eucharistic Congress in Chicago, has arrived here aboard the steamship Costa Biancamano. Umberto Nobile, captain of the Amundsen-Ellsworth dirigible Norge on her flight over the North Pole, also arrived on the same ship. Cannon boomed as the ship entered port under an escort of hydroplanes, two destroyers and the dirigibles N-2 and P-M.

Although the returning airman were the heroes of the occasion, Cardinal Bonzano was not forgotten, being greeted by lay and ecclesiastical deputations who congratulated him on the magnificent success of his mission to the United States.

TRIBUTE TO HIS PARENTS PAID BY SENATOR CUMMINS

Desire to Honor Their Memory Prompted Him to Start Autobiography Shortly Before Death.

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 3.—A desire to pay a tribute to his parents prompted Senator Albert B. Cummins to start an autobiography, the introduction of which was begun shortly before his death here Friday.

In the manuscript, now in possession of his daughter, Mrs. Hollis A. Rawson of Des Moines, the Senator wrote:

"I was born on the fifteenth day of February, 1850, in a respectable log house about a mile and a half east of Carmichaels, Green County, Pa., and lived there until the sixteenth day of August, 1882. My father, Thomas Layton Cummins, was a carpenter—the hardest working and most upright man I have ever known. It was to render a tribute to my father and mother that moved me to write something about my life and what ever gratification I feel in this will arise chiefly to make those who come after me acquainted with my father and mother."

With simple rites Senator Cummins was buried in Woodland Cemetery yesterday. A large number of his colleagues in the Senate and House attended the services, conducted by the Rev. Charles S. Medbury, pastor of the University Church of Christ. A vocal solo, "Abide With Me," and Dr. Medbury's brief eulogy comprised the services.

Sensors Deneen of Illinois and Reed of Missouri were the members of the Senate present from out of the State. Smith W. Brookhart, who defeated Senator Cummins in the June primary, also attended the services.

PROHIBITION ARGUMENT IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

Conservative Member Is Called to Order for Remark About Gen. Andrews' Errand.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—F. A. MacQuisten, Conservative, was called to order in the House of Commons yesterday by Foreign Secretary Chamberlain when he asked the Foreign Secretary to suggest to Brigadier-General Lincoln C. Andrews, chief of the American prohibition enforcement service, that he return to his own country and amend the disgraceful state of affairs as regards prohibition there.

Chamberlain was cheered when he said he deprecated the tone of the member's remark, as it was "really not in attitude which should be adopted toward another great and friendly nation."

MacQuisten intimated that Americans never had been poisoned by liquor smuggled into the United States but that 20 British subjects had been poisoned by bootleg liquor sent out of the United States, presumably to Canada.

FARRINGTON PICKS FURNITURE FOR LABOR OFFICE OF LEAGUE

Head of Illinois Miners Says That League Will Co-operate with International Bureau.

GENEVA, Aug. 3.—Frank Farrington, president of the United Mine Workers of America, is here selecting furniture for the international labor office of the League of Nations. The commission room will be a memorial to the late Samuel Compers, president of the American Federation of Labor.

They said that workers in the United States were wholeheartedly in favor of the labor office and would co-operate with it. Farrington predicted that the day would come when the United States would be affiliated with the League labor office.

The Americans, who conferred yesterday with a number of bureau officials, will go to England today to study the coal strike situation there and will make recommendations regarding relief measures when they return to the United States. Farrington arrived here from Italy where he observed the workings of Fascism.

Manila Greets Independence Party Senator on Return From U. S.

MANILA, P. One of the longest parades in the history of the islands escorted him through a triumphal arch to the Capitol where he held a reception.

Osmeña issued a statement in which he said: "The American people as a whole sympathize with our aspirations for independence. They recognize fully the obligations contained in the preamble of the Jones law. The Jones law is the organic act of the islands."

VARE'S FRIENDS THINK THEY CAN SAVE SENATE SEAT

Believe 33 Votes Can Be Mustered to Prevent Pennsylvania's Expulsion by Two-Thirds Vote.

MAY BE PARALLEL TO NEWBERRY CASE

Supreme Court Decision in Dismissing Criminal Charge Against Former Michigan Senator Cited.

By CHARLES MICHELSON, Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Representative Vare's friends believe they have found the means of preventing his being denied a seat in the United States Senate for his $500,000 plunge in the recent Pennsylvania primaries.

They have decided that under the Constitution, though that document expressly provides that the Senate shall be the sole judge of the qualifications of its members, it takes a two-thirds vote to expel a member, which means, according to this hypothesis, that as long as they can muster 33 votes for Vare he can retain his seat.

It has been assumed all along that a majority could expel Vare and Frank L. Smith, head of the Illinois Public Utilities Commission, whose pre-primary campaign was financed so lavishly by Samuel Insull, who owns most of Chicago's public utility corporations. A majority against these two is certain in the seventh Senate, whether the Democrats are able to control the Senate or not. There will be ten or a dozen Progressive votes, which, added to the Democrats, will give an aggregate of considerably more than 49 of the 98 Senators.

What Parallels Newberry Case.

What Vare's supporters anticipate is that the Democrats will get no more than a half in enough which would make the retention of Vare and Smith necessary if the Republicans are to organize the Senate. This would parallel the situation that resulted in the retention of Newberry until the following election brought in enough Democrats to insure his rejection, whereupon he resigned.

They assume that the administration's policy is already indicated by the notice from Secretary of the Treasury Mellon that he will support Vare, and the announcement that Senator Reed of Pennsylvania will caplain his defense.

The provision of the Constitution on which Vare relies is Article 2, Section 5. "Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and with the concurrence of two-thirds expel a member."

More than 100 years ago the Senate sought to expel Senator John Smith of Virginia because he was mixed up with Aaron Burr and had been indicted, but the vote was 19 for expulsion and 19 against, which acted one of the two-thirds, so he served as a Senator.

More recently Isaac Stephenson, late millionaire lumberman of Wisconsin, was assailed because he spent $107,000 in the primary to obtain his nomination, but the Senate seated him, while criticizing the expenditure, much as it did in the case of Newberry.

Supreme Court's Decision Cited.

With Lorimer of Illinois, a dozen years ago, the case was different, but this time the Senate could not muster two-thirds to expel him and only got rid of him by the expedient of declaring that he was not legally elected, which it did by a vote of 55 to 28.

In the case of Vare it will be contended that the manner of his nomination has no bearing on the validity of his election and, therefore, the Lorimer expedient is not available against him. It will be further contended that the Supreme Court's decision dismissing the criminal charge against Newberry on the ground that the Federal corrupt practices act does not apply to primary elections, must be taken cognizance of by the Senate and that by analogy the Senate has nothing to do with what happens in a primary, and therefore, that Vare must be given his seat, which is his until, or unless, the Senate expels him.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Should Adopt Miller Ordinance.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
The ordinance proposed by the Joint Terminals Committee, in section No. 5, proposes to give the Terminal Railroad Association lines full control of the railroad deck of the Municipal Bridge and permit the Terminal Railroad Association to make and enforce its time tables, rules and regulations governing the use of that bridge and the operation of all locomotives, cars and trains over it. If they succeed in getting this ordinance enacted, it will be impossible for any independent line to ever operate over the Municipal Bridge with freedom or profit. With the volume of traffic that the Terminal Railroad Association lines could put over that bridge, they could arrange their schedules and operations so as to shut out everybody else.

Section 9 provides that new approaches shall be constructed to the Municipal Bridge as the Terminal Railroad Association lines may deem advisable or necessary, which means that the southern approach would never be constructed under this ordinance, although the people have voted the money in the bond issue for that approach. There is just one independent line in St. Louis at this time and that is the Manufacturers Railway. It is impossible for that line to secure access to the bridge without the southern approach. It may not be generally known but the City of St. Louis owns the railroad on the levee, formerly known as the St. Louis Transfer Railway, extending from Arsenal street to Ferry street, approximately seven miles in length. This line is operated at present by the Terminal Railroad Association under lease. It would seem logical for the city to wish to connect its bridge with its own railroad, by means of the same approach.

The city's railroad serves many industries and has a connection with the C. & O., the M. & T., the Wabash, the Missouri Pacific and the Manufacturers Railway. In addition to this, a southern approach would connect with the Missouri Pacific, which railroad has lines on both sides of the river and could use the Municipal Bridge to great advantage.

The ordinance proposed by Mayor Miller on July 14 should be adopted immediately, as it would let one independent line on the Municipal Bridge at once and thereby prevent the consummation of the apparent purpose of the Terminal Railroad Association lines to prevent any but their companies operating over the bridge.

Hawes and Cochran's Record.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I WISH to take exception to the statement of Judge Ewing Cockrell that Mr. Harry B. Hawes is a political hornet, stinging Missouri Democrats right and left, stinging soldiers, farmers and the laboring classes. I don't know anything about the farmers, but I know that Mr. Harry B. Hawes and his secretary, Mr. John J. Cochran, did help my brother when he was discharged from the navy with "T. B." They got his pension for him in a few weeks, also did many other things that helped him after he was sent to Phoenix, Ariz. I wish we had more good men in office like them.

"Enough Is Enough."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
WHEN it comes to inspiring artists and literary people Queen Elizabeth was just an old hen alongside the Bell Telephone Building. The erection of this edifice has at last given St. Louis a distinctive age in literature and Pegasus is swayed back from the tonnage of the local jockeys.

However, enough is enough, and I confess to having read and seen my fill of this structure of stone. It has been photographed from every angle of the surrounding terrain has been photographed from its roof. Artists have craved it, editorial writers have gazed at its dizzy reaches and reiterated their belief in fairies, Babbits have pointed out its every window, rubs have strewn pine street with banana peels and school children have immortalized it in prize essays.

Is this asking too much? Let each St. Louis newspaper devote one day's issues to the building, cover the subject exhaustively and let it drop. Make it a Friday edition so that $4 pages may be made the matter justice.

Devote sections to photographs, one to poetry and song, one to essays, another to critical discussions from architects and another to statements from prominent citizens. If the Chamber of Commerce has real influence, let it import the Leviathan and stand it alongside the building for a dictionary picture. Let us not be pikers. St. Louis today occupies the national spotlight. Bring the Los Angeles, too. Do this when the structure is officially dedicated and preserve copies of the papers in the various cornerstones. Above all, give us a chance to forget this thing temporarily and act in a manner befitting the citizens of a city supporting two major league baseball teams, even if they haven't brought us any pennants. There's another idea, put the National League 1926 pennant on the Bell Telephone staff.

RAILROAD PRESIDENTS AND BRIDGE.

Four railroad presidents have made reply to Mayor Miller's letter, in which he asked five direct questions in relation to the city's ordinance, through which it is hoped to put the railroads on the Municipal Bridge. All the replies were guarded and evasive, and while some were conciliatory in tone, they all failed lamentably to meet the situation in that spirit of frankness which the Mayor, as the titular head of the city government, had a right to expect.

The Mayor's letter contained the following five questions:

- No. 1. Will your railroad co-operate with the city administration in using the Municipal Bridge under my plan? If not, what are your reasons?
- No. 2. Do you believe that Ordinance No. 29,501, relating to the use of the Municipal Bridge, is invalid?
- No. 3. Do you believe that a new ordinance, similar to the one proposed in my plan, should be passed by the Board of Aldermen?
- No. 4. Will your road co-operate with the Alton & Southern in an effort to use the Municipal Bridge, when and if the connections proposed in my plan are made?
- No. 5. Do you believe that my plan for the use of the Municipal Bridge interferes with the proposed exchange of the uses, as proposed by the Chamber of Commerce Committee? If so, in what respects does it prevent the consummation of the Chamber of Commerce plan?

All four railroad presidents delayed answering these questions for several weeks. The reasons given were absence from the city and pressure of business. J. M. Kurn, president of the Frisco, a director in the Terminal Railroad Association and a member of the Chamber of Commerce Terminals Committee, is the only one who attempts to answer the Mayor's five questions, in the order as presented. In the attempt he sadly bungles.

For example, the answer to No. 2 reads: "This is something would have to submit to our attorneys." Mr. Kurn has been a member of the committee which prepared the Railroad Combine's ordinance for the exchange of the uses of the bridges for six years. That ordinance provides for the repeal of Ordinance 29,501. His own chief engineer, F. G. Jonah, was active in preparing the engineers' report, as chairman of the engineers' committee, and his name is signed to the recommendation for the exchange of the bridges. That the city's ordinance, 29,501, would have to be repealed as a preliminary step before entering into any new contract by which the railroads would use the Municipal Bridge, has been insisted upon by every railroad man who has studied the subject. In the face of this, Mr. Kurn says: "Would have to submit it to our attorneys."

In answering No. 4 Mr. Kurn agrees to co-operate with the Alton & Southern, and "with any connection if the operation is feasible." This is a safe answer, as any other could put him in conflict with the Interstate Commerce laws, which provide against unfair discriminations and demand the use of the cheapest and most expeditious routes.

Mr. Kurn was asked (No. 5): "Do you believe that my plan for the use of the Municipal Bridge interferes with the proposed exchange of the uses, as proposed by the Chamber of Commerce Committee?" He answered this question only as the president of the Frisco, and naively assumed that he might disregard the fact that he is a director in the Terminal Railroad Association and has, for six years, been an important member in the Chamber of Commerce Terminals Committee.

His reply was: "This would require very close investigation on our part, as to whether or not we could afford to pay toll on every car and locomotive crossing the Municipal Bridge while at the same time carrying our proportion of the interest charges and taxes on the Eads Bridge."

The reader will please note that the very ordinance which Mr. Kurn helped prepare, in his triple capacity as railroad president, terminal director and committeeman, and in favor of which he voted, as one of 11 on the committee, provides that the Terminal Association will, in return for the free use of the Municipal Bridge, continue to pay the $654,000 a year, in interest and dividend charges, on the Eads Bridge. Further, they agree to relinquish their toll revenues of $425,000 a year, so that the city may make it a free bridge, and, so great was the desire of the Terminal Association to secure a monopolistic control of the Municipal Bridge, they further promised to build railroad approaches estimated to cost $5,000,000.

Let it be emphasized here that the Mayor's ordinance proposes to permit the Frisco and all the Terminal Association railroads to use the Municipal Bridge on a USER basis, i. e., by paying $1 per car until such time as the car-movement revenues equal the interest, depreciation and maintenance charges, which is around $350,000 a year. When this movement exceeds $350,000 cars per annum, the rate will be reduced and pro-rated among the railroads, based on their respective use.

Mr. Kurn, as a director of the Terminal Railroad Association, should recognize that the city will permit his association to move, free of cost, 654,000 cars annually, only a fraction of their total car movement—over the Municipal Bridge, in return for the use of the Eads Bridge and tunnel. Mr. Kurn, as president of the Frisco, should recognize that such a plan should not increase the Frisco's "proportion of the interest charges and taxes on the Eads Bridge."

There is nothing in the Mayor's user-basis ordinance which should prevent the Terminal Railroad Association from using the Municipal Bridge. They are at liberty to build their own approaches. They need not use the facilities of the Alton & Southern or the Manufacturers' Railroad unless they see fit, or unless they offer a cheaper and more expeditious routing. They are at liberty to trade the uses of the Eads Bridge and tunnel for those of the Municipal Bridge and receive credits in car movements to an amount to be mutually determined.

If the Terminal Railroad Association refuse to revamp their ordinance to meet these simple conditions, the public is well justified in looking upon their ordinance as an embracing sinister designs for capturing the Municipal (the People's) Bridge solely in the interests of monopoly.

Borah, unlike Coolidge, won't go fishing. "It would be plagiarism," says the Senator, thereby getting off a bright line at the expense of revealing his candidatorial complex. The inference is, of course, that Borah regards fishing as Coolidge's own dodge and that he, as a possible presidential candidate, scorns stealing the President's stuff.

THE MISSOURI PRIMARIES.

Whether the Pennsylvania primaries and their material dishonesty really did any more damage than the Missouri primaries and their intellectual dishonesty is a question. Another investigating committee, capable of weighing values other than gold and silver, would have to collect and collate all that was said. It would have to be determined whether distributing a little something for everybody, as the Pennsylvania candidates did, is likely to be more demoralizing in the end than merely being all things to everybody, or whatever you will, as the Missouri candidates have been.

We are afraid the most damage was done in Missouri. Already Pennsylvania seems rallying. Her press has spoken more or less sharply, and the morale of the State appears to be rising. But how is it with Missouri? Badly, we fear. There was so much hypocrisy, and the people themselves were at times so much worse than the candidates were that our morale must be low. If so, we have ourselves to blame. The candidate is what we make him. If our expectations of him are high and we have a conviction upon some fine political issue, the candidate reflects that. He has something to say and the courage to say it. Upon the other hand, if we are feeble and divide like quarreling children over inconsequentials, the candidate reflects our littleness and instability. That was what made the Missouri primaries so footless. We were not sincere, and the candidate could not be sincere. He is perforce a chameleon upon the body politic, and as its colors change he changes with it. No one less than a political chameleon could survive the liquor fight in Missouri. Senator Williams was typical. He said in substance: "You tell me where you are going to stand, and I will tell you where to find me." Even Senator Reed, easily the equal in courage to St. George and the rest of them, changed color on the liquor issue as he came and went in his last Missouri campaign.

There are grave problems before us, but what was heard of them in the Missouri primaries? Mr. Hawes struck for high ground, but he was dragged down at last to the common level of us all, to be judged as a wet. Had he set out at the beginning spouting soda-water here and light wines and beer there he would have been just as well off at length as he is for having tried to dignify the campaign with serious discussion of political issues. It was inevitable that this should be so in a state where the people vote for one thing and drink another, where everybody is maintaining some sort of pose and nobody reverences anything but the great god Sham.

The Missouri primaries were precisely what we deserved. They could be no better than we are.

This may not be the age of valor, but there is a biologist running in the Tennessee primaries against Gov. Peay today on the evolution issue.

DE SOTO'S FIRE AND THE NEW MISSOURI.

Just as it has for so long been told how the waters come down at Loreto, it must also for a long time be told how the St. Louis Fire Department got out to the De Soto fire.

Think of it! The fire was 45 miles away in the Ozark Mountains. Yet two fire companies from St. Louis got out there in 90 minutes and saved the town! Their powerful pumps and experienced firefighters made short work of the flames, and they leisurely motored back to the city in the pride of having rendered a fine gratuitous service. Of course, what made it possible for St. Louis to respond to De Soto's cry for help was good roads. A metropolitan fire company's apparatus can hardly do better than 45 miles an hour on city pavements, but they made 30 miles all the way to De Soto. That is the kind of a Missouri we are coming to have. The old Missouri of muddy roads, unbridged streams, isolated towns and mountain beauties looked up where nobody could see them, has given way to the Missouri through which two companies of the St. Louis Fire Department, bells clanging and cut-outs open, went to the De Soto fire in 90 minutes and put the fire out in 10.

You old-timers remember Roy A. Haynes, who was in town the other day. He was the one who wanted to enforce prohibition by a billboard advertising campaign. The Temple Bar isn't where the ecclesiastics go to get a drink. You can get a bath, use the telephone and have ice cream almost anywhere in London. The Horse Guards don't guard horses. Economics, of course, is (or are; we don't care) entirely outside our sphere. Yet we believe that if the United Railways would reinstate the old "fare when found" system, they would carry more passengers, and hence, make more money. The present system of collecting fares is too certain and inevitable for those poetic souls who are willing to take a chance. Civilization and the local Police Board leave us so little room to gamble that Mr. Perkins might consider the matter.

Today is the day of which the thoughtful citizen, having listened to all the speeches, weighed all the issues, and studied the records of the candidates, goes to the polls and votes the way he intended to in the first place.

LUNAR LARGO.

Between the hills I sped along that wondrous night in June And watched in tingling ecstasy the antics of the moon. It seemed to roll along the range, upon the very crest Like the hoop of some ray Harlequin who sought my fate to test. THE DEMAGOGUE IN FRANCE

From the Chicago News.

No intelligent American will blame Napoleon Bonaparte for his demonstration against the United States. Upon them rests the responsibility for the ill feeling of war-torn peasants, workers or politicians who know little or nothing about national finance, international trade, commerce and the relation between rancy inflation and international credit.

They know little concerning the terms necessary to prevent national prestige and credit. The demonstration was the result of less and malicious propaganda for several years, propaganda by jingo editors. By these and scrupulous persons the United States consistently has been called a hypocrite, the depreciation of French currency has been attributed to the demands of this country for business-like elements. These demagogues of the press and the press know that they have been guilty of monstrous injustice to the United States. Upon them rests the responsibility for the ill feeling of war-torn peasants, workers or politicians who know little or nothing about national finance, international trade, commerce and the relation between rancy inflation and international credit.

Their own nation to pay its just debt, the terms necessary to prevent national prestige and credit. 'WOODLAND' FANTASY

THIN, BANAL, INANIMATE
Pixley and Luders Emanate Easily Descends to Burlesque at Municipal Theater.

By W. H. JAMES.

THEAT fearfully, but not wonderfully constructed forest fantasy, "Woodland," with its characters and a cuckoo plot of more stage space than any of the current season's offerings at the Municipal Theater. Without being too critical it might be said that "Woodland" was produced last night by Charles Sinclair and continued until a late hour and was greatly enjoyed by him.

Apart from the settings and chorus groupings and evolution one seeks in vain for anything which will remain in the mind as a happy memory of an evening's spent. The emanation is unbelievable thin—so thin that, as the so-called action progresses, the inanity of the thing overpowers the principals in the cast. The frankly chuck up all effort to it over on its manifest demerit from that state of mind there is easy descent to burlesque, so toward the end of the performance one finds the actors "gagging" show.

The bird costumes are colorful, but no more true to nature than the libretto in which the ruling motive is the eagle's desire to mate with the nightingale.

Robinson Newbold in the lead comedy role struggles valiantly against his meager part with interpretations. He drags in by the ears the man who is "all dressed up and no place to go," and the conformance of Detmar-Poppy William J. McCarthy

THAT fearfully, but not wonderfully constructed forest fantasy, "Woodland," with bird characters and a cuckoo plot puts more stage space than any of the recent season's offerings at the Municipal Theater. Without being too critical it might be said that "Woodland" was produced last night by Charles Sinclair and continued until a late hour and was greatly enjoyed by him.

Apart from the settings and the chorus groupings and evolutions one seeks in vain for anything which will remain in the mind as a happy memory of an evening well spent. The plot of this Pixley and Luders emanation is unbelievably thin—so thin that, as the so-called action progresses, the insanity and banality of the thing overpowers the principals in the cast. They frantically chuck up all effort to put it over on its manifest demerits.

From that state of mind there is an easy descent to burlesque, so that toward the end of the performance one finds the actors "gagging" the show.

The bird costumes are colorful enough, but no more true to nature than the libretto in which the rilling motive is the eagle's desire to mate with the nightingale.

Robinson Newbold in the leading comedy role struggles valiantly to make out his meager part with interpolations. He drags in by the hair of the head the names of Shakespeare, William J. McCarthy and Roland Woodruff. He descends to the burlesque shop level of vocalism with "Sweet Adeline" and "Goodbye, Dolly Gray."

The thin melody of the music and lyrics is reminiscent of the days when phonograph records were cylindrical. Dorothy Maynard as the nightingale and Irene Dunne as the wren look pretty in their bird costumes and easily meet the light demands on their voices.

As to the young women members of the all-St. Louis chorus, it is difficult to see how marching and counter-marching in tight lines is calculated to add to their musical education. They merely add another touch to the burlesque complex of this bird fantasy which must be chalked up as a goose egg for the Municipal Opera score board.

CASTLE IN U. S. FOR PRINCESS

A. G. Dahlberg Arranges Surprise at Summer Home.

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn., Aug. 3.—When the Princess Marie of Spain arrives here on her visit to the B. G. Dahlberg family at their summer home on Rainy Lake, she will be more than surprised at the beautiful residence she will occupy during her stay.

The Chicago millionaire has had 40 carpenters constructing a miniature Spanish castle. The Princess, a cousin of King Alfonso, arrived in New York Friday.

The dispositions adopted are only in obedience to fulfillment of the duty of conscience.

"It biases you because you have engaged yourselves on its side, and because, with your worthy and measured conduct, you have interpreted the Episcopal's idea regarding the methods for again gaining your sacred rights and for securing true peace."

The Episcopalists are confident that you will not abandon the cause you are defending and that you will not deviate from the path which you have started in respect to order and peace, being, as you are, fully persuaded that this is the spirit which should actuate all Christians and which is the message we have taught you.

The Episcopalists trust that God will move the hearts of all Mexicans, especially those who can influence, in a decisive way, a solution of such grave problems, and that he will move them to commence the glorious task of saving their fatherland."

Armed Boycotters Give Ball.

All eight members of the three directorates of the League for Defense of Religious Liberty, arrested on charges that their economic boycott propaganda incited the people to violence, have been released under bail pending formal trial.

The courts continue to examine and release Catholic priests charged with failure to register with the municipal authorities. All the priests give the same explanation, that they thought the Archbishop the proper authority to supply the information sought by the authorities.

Guantanamo dispatches say exiled crowds, largely composed of women, prevented the authorities from closing any of the Catholic church annexes. The women, thinking at first that the places of worship were being closed, formed around the officials. When they learned that the annexes and not the churches were to be sealed, they announced that they would not even permit that. The officers resented in sealing the door of man work people have always been tented with their lot and do not want much to make them happy.

'DOUGHBOY' BACKBONE OF ARMY

'Of Many Inventions, None Have Replaced Infantry,' Harbord Says.

By the Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 3.—The "doughboy" continues to be the backbone of the army, says an article by Major-General J. G. Harbord, retired, appearing today in the August issue of the American Legion Monthly.

The author refers to a report of the general staff in 1922, which reached the conclusion that "man remains the fundamental instrument in battle" and fights "with greater efficiency on foot, not on horseback, in a tank, airplane or fixed fortification."

"In all ages, man, during peace, has turned his mind to the means of winning wars. Some of these inventions have served most practical purposes, but none of them have replaced the infantry. They have all either served the doughboy or disappeared."

SCULPTOR RETURNS TO LONDON

Copyright, 1926, by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co., (New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Alfred Gilbert, the sculptor of Eros in Piccadilly Circus, returned here yesterday from Bruges, after an unexpected retirement of 20 years. In 1909 Gilbert was a member of the Royal Academy and had four rooms assigned to his use in Windsor Castle. He was regarded as England's greatest sculptor. He suddenly resigned from the academy, and left London. During the time he lived and worked in Bruges, un molested by the Germans.

His return was due to a desire to complete before his death a memorial to the Duke of Clarence at Windsor, which he started 20 years ago. His friends say he seems terrified by the noise and size of London.

OFF AND STATES' RIGHTS DEMOCRATIC ISSUES FOR 1928

By R. H. Angell, Doubts Prohibition Will Be Campaign Factor Except Indirectly.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Tariff reduction and states' rights, the two main issues in the Democratic platform, are moving to the front as the issues of the campaign of 1928, according to Raymond R. Angell, representative of the Democratic National and Congressional committees on his returning from a tour of 14 Western states.

"Farmers will not be satisfied," he said, "until relief legislation is enacted and are now looking to tariff reduction to bring prosperity. "I believe prohibition will not arise as an issue in the Democratic convention this time, except as it is involved in the general question of states' rights. Two-thirds of the voters in the West are dry, and I see no way to alter the eighteenth amendment with more than one-third of the states believing it is a good law."

Those mentioned prominently to Angell as likely candidates to head the Democratic ticket are Edwin T. Meredith of Des Moines, Ia., who was Secretary of Agriculture
under President Wilson; Gov. A.
Victor Donahy of Ohio; Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland; Gov.
Alfred E. Smith of New York;
William G. McAduoo and former Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock of Nebraska.

TWO BOYS AND MAN KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Frank Hodapp, Truck Gardener of Maplewood, Hurled to Death in Crash on Manchester Avenue.

REAR END OF HIS WAGON HIT BY CAR

William Kubernik and Harry Lander, Each 8, Fatally Hurt When Hit by Machines.

Two 8-year-old boys and a man were killed in automobile accidents yesterday in St. Louis and St. Louis County.

Frank Hodapp, 41, of 7559 Manchester avenue, Maplewood, a truck gardener, was pitched from the seat of his huckster's wagon when an automobile struck the rear end of the wagon as Hodapp drove east in front of 5559 Manchester avenue, at 9:45 p. m. Hodapp died instantly of skull fracture. The driver, Harry Klag, 34, of 432 Big Bend road, Webster Groves, was arrested. His companion, Miss Mildred Granger, 25, of 4157 Shenandoah avenue, was cut by windshield glass.

William Kubernik, son of Mr.
and Mrs. Isadore Kubernik of 1347 Semple avenue, ran into Easton avenue near Belt avenue shortly after noon and was knocked down by an automobile driven west by Fred A. Neun Jr., 18, of 3828
Louisiana avenue. He died at city hospital at 2:30 p. m. Neun was arrested.

Harry Lander, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Lander, of 3264 A-bama avenue, jumped from the rear of an ice wagon with his six-year-old brother, Walter, on Bayless avenue near Gravois road, St.
Louis County, at 11 a. m., and was hit by an eastbound machine as he crossed the road. The driver, Edward J. Fleming, 32, Madison avenue, Vinata Park, took him to Alexian Brothers Hospital where he died of skull fracture at noon.
The accident occurred near a summer cottage owned by the Landers.
A man here, Leonard Hicks, of Washington, Mo., was injured critically when an automobile driven by Harry Hoffstetter of 916 South Newstead avenue, struck a light standard in the center of Oakland avenue in front of Forest Park Highlands. Hoffstetter said the injured man was a stranger who had asked for a "lift" as he drove through Washington. The man was in a semi-conscious condition, with skull fracture and internal injuries, when he tried to identify himself. Hoffstetter, his brother, Walter, and another man, were cut slightly.

16 TURKS ON TRIAL FOR PLOT

By the Associated Press.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 3.— Sixteen prominent members of the Committee of Union and Progress are on trial at Ankara, charged with plotting against the Government. The Prosecuting Attorney has requested banishment for life for them.

Among the 16 are David Bey, Dr. Nazim Bey, and Azmi Bey, who was Director of Police during the World War; Midhat Chukri Bey, secretary of the Committee of Union
and Progress; Kutubik Talat Bey, one of the most influential of the Unionists; and Hussein David Bey, Turkey's foremost newspaper editor, who was banished in 1924 for opposing the Government. Ten years' imprisonment has been asked by the prosecutor for 50 other defendants. The penalties requested caused surprise to the public, which had expected a repetition of the recent Smyrna executions, when 13 men were hanged for connection with the plot to assassinate President Mustafa Kemal Pasha.

VETERAN CONDUCTOR RETIRES

C. J. Egan Was With Missouri
Pacific Railroad 46 Years.
Upon completion of 46 years of service with the Missouri Pacific Railroad, Charles J. Egan of 2956 Shenandoah avenue has been retired on pension.

Egan is a passenger conductor.
Four others in other cities were retired last month in line with the road's policy of retiring employes of more than 25 years' service and more than 65 years old.

Texas Pecan Crop Large.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—T. H.
Ridgeway, president of the Texas Pecan Growers' Association, a few years ago purchased 60 acres of pecan land near San Antonio on which were 800 pecan trees. Now the trees bring him about $5000
a year. He worked on his orchard only 60 days during the threshing season. This year, Ridgeway says, promises one of the biggest crops
in the history of the State.

Stinson's Visit Stirr Manila.
Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1926.
MANILA, P. I., Aug. 3.—Americans here are excited over the arrival of Henry Lewis Stinson, former Secretary of War, who is making his first visit to the Far East.

He denies there is any political importance attached to his visit. He will stay at Malacanang with Governor-General Wood and probably will make a trip to Mindanao and the southern islands aboard Wood's yacht Apo with Col. Carmel A. Thompson and his party.

SLAYER FREE 15 YEARS, CAUGHT Negro Arrested in Milwaukee for Killing Peoria Man.
By the Associated Press.
PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 3.—After 15 years of dodging the law, Gilles Carter, Negro, 35, caught for killing John Kreps, Peoria saloon keeper, was captured in Milwaukee today, according to word from that city.

Carter has confessed to the killing, police here say. An officer will be sent to Milwaukee tomorrow to return him to Peoria. The murder was one of the most cold-blooded in the city's history.

IN PUBLIC OFFICE FOR FORTY-FIVE YEARS
Peter M. Laney of Billings, Is One of Three Oldest Settlers in Ozark Community.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
BILLINGS, Mo., Aug. 3.—For 45 years Peter M. Laney, 74-year-old Justice of the Peace, has held some public office in this booming little Ozark town. During that time he has seen Billings develop from a few scattered farm homes into a town of approximately 1200 residents. Laney is one of the three living men who were residing in the Billings community back in 1861, when the countryside was "barren lands" and settlers were few and far between.

The other two old settlers of Billings are Bryant Williams, 76, well-to-do retired farmer residing two miles northeast of town, and J. Franklin French, 73, retired farmer of Billings. Laney is two months older than Williams.

The three men are the only male persons who were residing in Polk Township, which includes the town of Billings, before the Civil War.

And 45 consecutive years as a public official in his home town is believed to be a record unsurpassed by any living man in this section. Laney is still hale and hearty and says he expects to live to be 100 years old.

Born in March, 1850, Peter Laney was left an orphan at an early age. When the Civil War opened, he was only 10 years old. While his brother and uncle and a neighbor, Cal Green, went to war, the small boy took care of their families and tilled their fields with an old-fashioned plow drawn by yokes of cattle.

At that time the small settlement was known as "Plymouth." When the war was at its height, the small boy carried news to the Union soldiers of Confederate activities and because of his youth, no one suspected him of being a spy and he furnished valuable information to the Union soldiers on several occasions.

After the Civil War, Laney went to Phelps County in 1865, where he worked for some time. He then worked in an iron works in Crawford County for five years.

Father Settled in 1837.
Returning to Billings in 1876, he was married on Oct. 26 of that year to Amanda Dodd, daughter of an old pioneer of this section. The couple made their home in Greene County two years and then moved to Billings and built a home. Two years later their home was destroyed by fire, but Laney at once erected a new home on the same site, and it now stands.

Laney was the youngest of a family of six boys and four girls and is the only surviving member of his family. His father, Jeremiah Laney, was one of the first white men to settle in the West.

Jeremiah Laney came to this section of the country in 1837, there being only one white man west of him at that time, an oldtimer by the name of John Richmond who lived about half a mile west of Laney at Rock Prairie.

The country around Billings during Laney's boyhood was known as "barren lands" because of the wild grass which grew from knee to waist deep each year. Each fall the grass would catch fire and burn off the countryside for miles around, killing all the young timber. Only the timber on the ridges escaped and as a result, the country around Billings now is rolling land with timber scattered here and there on the ridges.

Surveyed for Railroad.
Billings received its present name in 1870, when the name Plymouth was discarded. Records in the division engineer's office of the Frisco Railroad also show that the town of Monett was at one time called Plymouth.

Laney helped to survey the right-of-way for the first railroad through Southwest Missouri. The railroad, now the Frisco, runs through Billings. When the railroad was first proposed through Billings, the nearest railroad station was at Arlington, Mo., 11.8 miles east. The railroad was actually constructed through Billings in 1872.

For 10 years Laney was city marshal at Billings. He served six years as an alderman, six as Police Judge, five as Collector and for the past 15 years has been a Justice of the Peace here. Laney also followed the blacksmithing trade here for 17 years in addition to his duties as a public official.

Lost Arm in Celebration.
In 1894, while firing a cannon in celebration of some sort of an official occasion, Laney's right arm was torn off just below the elbow and his right eye permanently blinded by a premature discharge of the cannon. Despite the handicap, he has succeeded in earning a comfortable living for his family and boasts of the fact that he owes not a cent to anyone.

Mr. and Mrs. Laney had no children. A special party is being arranged by their friends to celebrate the couple's golden wedding anniversary on Oct. 26.

GENTRY RULES UPON MALT-NUTRINE SA

Attorney-General's Opinion Follows Arrest of Purchaser at Fredericktown, Mo.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 3.—The City Marshal of Fredericktown, Mo., arrested a man leaving a drug store with a bottle of Malt-Nutrine in his pocket. Prosecuting Attorney Clinton of Madison County, in doubt whether to prosecute the man, asked Attorney-General Gentry for his opinion.

The Attorney-General, in his reply, stated that the State law prohibited the sale of any distilled malt, spirituous liquor, whether alcoholic or not, which has one-half of 1 per cent of alcohol by volume, and which is capable of being used as a beverage.

In event of a charge of possession or sale of Malt-Nutrine, Attorney-General said, "It would be necessary for the State to prove that it contained one-half of 1 per cent of alcohol by volume, and capable of being used as a beverage. If these things are shown, it would be classed as intoxicating liquor and would be governed by the statute which prohibits traffic in intoxicating liquors."

The Attorney-General said State law as thus interpreted would not be affected by the act of the Federal Government in using a permit for manufacture of Malt-Nutrine.

Malt-Nutrine, a tonic, is made by Anheuser-Busch, Inc., of St. Louis, in announcing last March plans for resuming the making of Malt-Nutrine, the company stated that it would have 3.75 per cent alcoholic content. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews, in charge of the prohibition department, issued the Federal permit for the manufacture and said it was a beverage within the meaning of the Federal law.

At that time Antislavery League officials raised the objection that while possibly not a beverage, the preparation could be mixed with beer, to form beer of illegal alcoholic content. The manufacturers have denied this.

U. S. SPENDS $4.69 PER CAPITA FOR POSTAGE, OFFICIAL SALES

R. S. Regar, Third Assistant Postmaster-General, says America spends $4.69 per person for postage.

The postal service as a factor of business conditions was subject of an interview given last night by Robert S. Regar, Third Assistant Postmaster-General, who was here on his way to West-den Springs, Ind., to address a convention.

He said that in 1925 if every person had done an equal share each person in the United States would have written 114 letters, spent $4.69 for postage. There were per capita figures for country and showed a healthy business condition, Regar said, showing the importance of the postal service to commerce here mentioned that in 1925 Sears, Roebuck & Co. the mail order house, sent $10,184,441 for stamps.

Regar spoke of the postal service as "the largest business enterprise in the world," saying it employed 321,000 employees and an appropriation for the current year of $7,902,300. Twenty years ago the cost of all the services maintained by the Government was only $7,900,000 annually.

New Stars Threaten to Take Honors From Old-Timers in Ruth All-America Contest

Men Like Hornsby and Bottomley, Having Lean Years, No Longer Are Sure Shots for Places.

The fact that every dog has his off day in addition to enjoying a special day is making the Post-Dispatch's Babe Ruth All-America team contest interesting. The day is past when outstanding stars dominated their respective positions and excluded all others from consideration.

Hornsby's slump has already been discussed. After landing on Ruth's team for four successive seasons, the Cardinal manager finds himself in danger of being displaced by someone else, due to unfortunate physical handicaps which have arisen. Jim Bottomley likewise is no sure shot.

Tris Speaker, manager of Cleveland, is the only player, barring Hornsby, who has been chosen three times for the mythical nine. Speaker was picked in 1922 and 1923, slipped up in 1924, but came back in 1925 and this year is having another lean season. His slump has been so bad that he benched himself recently.

Cobb Made Team Once. Ty Cobb made the team in 1922, but the next two years saw Jamieson in his place and last year Gossin supplanted Jamieson. Who will be in left field this year?

First base has been held down by no fewer than four men in four years—Sisler, Blue, Judge and Bottomley. Shortstop has gone the same way with Scott, Gerber, Peckinpaugh and Wright being named successively.

CHAMPION HUGGINS WINS OPENING MATCH IN NORTH HILLS GOLF

F. J. Higgins, defending champion, won his first round golf in the North Hills Country Club golf tournament and in eliminating H. Keller, 3 and 2. Higgins showed such good form that he may be regarded as a probable finalist. He will oppose Dr. L. N. Cates in his second round match this week. Dr. Cates was carried to the eighteenth green in winning his first round match from W. Ferrel, 1 up. There are three defaults in the championship class.

me a cent and I am under no obligations to them.

"After the Tunney match? I can't tell just now. My plans are necessarily indefinite. I don't certainly shall be identified with the game as a fighter.

"Will I have been waiting a long time for someone to make the match. I'm a fighter, not a match-maker."

"I have never seen Tunney fight but I understand he is a fast, strong really formidable fellow and I am trained accordingly. I don't know who will aid me in training but I will have only the very best men available. No 'bums' will do and I will fire any that don't come up to the mark. I'll have Bill Tate and some other big, heavy fellows to develop my punch and several welterweights to get some speed."

Yanks' Winning Streak of 11 in Row Is Shattered

Faber Beats Shocker in Hurling Duel—Leading Pirates Defeated.

By the Associated Press. It was a blue Monday for the league-leading New York Yankees, for they were victims of an inter-urban clash between Faber of the Chicago White Sox and Shocker of New York, which halted their winning streak of 11 straight games.

The score was 2 to 1. Faber permitting only six safeties. The other Urban did about as well, granting six in seven frames, but was unfortunate in that three of them came together for the winning two runs in the fourth.

Philadelphia again showed signs of taking up the bennet chase by topping Detroit twice, 6 to 0 and 10 to 1. In the first contest the veteran Howard Ehmke gave the Tigers only three singles. Rube Walberg and Lefty Grove scattered 10 blows in the second offering, Manush's eleventh homer of the season giving Detroit its only run.

Pittsburgh accepted a beating from Philadelphia, 8 to 3. While Cincinnati was idle, the Pirates thereby retaining a lead of one and one-half games. Chicago brought the Brooklyn Dodgers back to a tie for fourth place by downing them, 5 to 4, with an attack led by the former Clevelander, Rigger Stephen.

Manager McGraw of the Giants announced that he had signed Joe Morrissey, outfielder from Holy Cross, and that John Boyle, Xavier College catcher, had been released.

One Well Pitched Game. That's the lone addition announced for 1927. But how, as Mr. Fan asks, can Shute, even though he swats better than .400 for the year, win contests when the pitchers are a "complete flop?" Shute will not come up more than four, at the most, five times a game. He can hardly be expected to drive in more than eight runs, which is the average the Brownie pitchers have permitted in the seven games at home on the current stand.

Since returning to Sportsman's Park the Browns have won one game and lost six. Of the half dozen defeats, four can be laid directly to the door of poor pitching. Even in the clash won, the twirling was "minor leagueish."

The Browns have had but one well-pitched battle in the last seven. That was when Ernie Wingo led to Urban Shocker, 3 to 2. Throwing the battle, Walter Johnson pitched. He blanked the Browns and so Sisler's men were not entitled to a victory.

However in the others the perurle work of the hillmen offset the batting punch.

Average 5.4 Runs, But Lose. And now let the figures speak. In the seven titles at home the Browns have a batting average of .286, with 72 hits, an average of better than 10 a game. In 252 trips to the plate, The Browns have scored 41 runs, or an average of 5.8 a contest. That's a pretty good average, but it had failed to win for the Browns.

There's a reason: In the seven clashes the opposition has batted to a mark of .241, with 90 hits, or 12.8 a tilt, in 264 trips to the plate. What's more, the opposition has scored 59 runs, or 8.4 a clash. In

Twirling for the enemy was also Class Q. Dutch Ruether started. He retired eight straight batters and then in two and one-third innings yielded eight runs and 11 safeties before Stanley Harris finally decided he had taken enough punishment for one day. Morrell

IF YOU were in the cigar business and you wanted to make a fine cigar, there's only one kind of tobacco you'd use . . . ripe tobacco.

You'd discard that under-ripe tobacco which gives a cigar a bitter taste and you'd discard that over-ripe tobacco which makes a cigar flat because it won't cure properly. You'd use only those finely ripened, perfectly matured leaves from the middle of the plant.

That's exactly what we do in the Mapacuba cigar and that's one reason why it is such a smooth, mellow, satisfying smoke. For Mapacuba is made only of carefully selected ripe tobacco!

Remember that fact the next time you step up to the counter to buy a cigar. Decide to try at least one Mapacuba. You'll know then that ripe tobacco does make a difference in the pleasure you get out of smoking.

$100,000 Offer Is Refused by Owner Of 2-Year-Old Star

Special to the Post-Dispatch. SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 3. CAPA FLOW, the 2-year-old colt by Man o' War-Florence Webber, which won the United States Hotel Stakes so impressively Saturday, is worth considerably more than $100,000 to his owner, Walter M. Jeffords.

Charles Schwartz, who won the Grand National Steeplechase with Jack Horner last March, and who is gathering together a small but select stable here, offered $100,000 for Capa Flow yesterday, but the offer was declined.

Schwartz believes that Capa Flow is the best 2-year-old of the season and shares the opinion of a number of good horsemen that the colt is the best son of Man o' War that has come to the races.

The highest price ever paid for a 2-year-old in this country was $150,000 for Inchcape, bought by Harry F. Sinclair.

KAPLAN AND CELLO TO BATTLE TONIGHT

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Louis (Kid) Kaplan, who cast down the featherweight boxing crown several weeks ago, tonight tests his ability as a lightweight.

Kaplan's first engagement in the heavier class—it was inability to make weight that caused him to doff the feather crown—will find him opposed to the Pacific Coast battler, Tommy Cello. The bout is scheduled for 10 rounds at the Queensboro Stadium.

Britton Wins Bout. By the Associated Press. MAINE, Aug. 3.—Jack Britton, former world's welterweight champion, easily outpointed Red McLachlan of Saginaw, Mich., in a 10-round bout here last night. Britton displayed all his old cleverness, keeping McLachlan away with his left jab and punishing him badly in the body.

did well, but was taken out for a punch hitler. Against Marberry, the Browns tied in the eighth, aided by errors by S. Harris and Judge. But in the ninth, after the Senators had counted three, the home batters were silenced in order.

Washington closes its stand here today. Joe Gird may or may not start for Sisler. Alvin Crowder, a young man recently brought up from the Southern Association and said to be quite a flinger, is due for the allens. Tomorrow the Athletics call.

We shudder to contemplate the deluge of oratory that would follow if the candidates were to give a thought to this question of prohibition.

Miller's Showing for Proctor and Neumann and in City Committee Contests a Blow to Him.

WEAK IN GETTING VOTES FOR OTHERS

Chairman of Recall Committee Announces Petitions for Vote on Matter Will Be Filed Soon.

Mayor Miller, in yesterday's primary, failed in his three chief undertakings.

He failed to nominate Charles A. Neumann for Collector. Edmund Koehn, 16 years in that office, was re-nominated by a margin of more than 19,000 over the combined votes of Neumann and his two other opponents.

The Mayor failed to make a strong showing for David M. Proctor in the senatorial contest. Proctor's city vote of 17,615 was only about three times the number of voting city employees.

Results in Committee Contests.
Also the Mayor failed to obtain control of the Republican City Committee. Of 13 wards where the Mayor had taken a definite stand on the election of committee-men, he lost 11 and won 2. In a number of other wards, where the Mayor had taken no active part in the committee contest, committee-men opposed to the Mayor were elected. The alignment is not so clear in the women's committee, but it too, appears to be anti-Miller.

This demonstration of the Mayor's weakness, in getting votes for others, has convinced his opponents that he may not be so strong in getting votes for himself as he was in 1924 and 1925. Chairman Hell of the Miller Recall Committee announced today that the recall petitions, containing about 64,000 names, would be filed shortly to bring about a vote on the recall at the November election. If the Election Board finds enough valid signatures—about 61,000 are required—the recall proposal will be placed on the ballot; and the majority of votes cast on that proposal will decide it. If the vote should be adverse to the Mayor, President Neun of the Board of Aldermen would become Mayor until the city election of April, 1927. When a Mayor would be chosen.

Mayor Miller today refused to comment on the result of the primary.

Total City Vote About 127,251.
The total city vote cast for Republican and Democratic candidates for Senator in the primary was 127,251, or 47 per cent of the registration, which was 269,488. This total will be increased slightly by the votes cast on the Socialist and Socialist-Labor tickets, which do not appear in the unofficial report. A 47 per cent vote was cast in the primary of August, 1922, when the same nominations were at stake as in yesterday's primary, including the United States Senate, and when Senator Reed was a candidate. In the primary for Mayor in March, 1925, a 54 per cent vote was cast, and in the August primary of 1924, 49 per cent.

Senator Williams, with a city vote of 53,024, exceeded the combined vote of his opponents, Priest, 29,338 and Proctor 17,615. Priest, who ran on a wet platform, did better than Proctor on a dry platform, but he failed to repeat the spectacular performance of William Sacks, wet candidate in the 1922 primary, who ran away with the Republican city vote.

Next to the contest for the Republican nomination for Collector, the contest for the third of the Republican nominations for Circuit Judge was of interest. It had been mentioned on Page 2, Column 6.
